This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

VOLUME II.

WARDOUR STREET, W.

L'ENVOI.

THE reception accorded to the MISCELLANEA GENEALOGICA ET HERALDICA was from the beginning very favourable, and the supply of original matter suitable to its pages soon became so large as to encourage the Editor to extend the undertaking by starting a New Series, to be published, as a rule, monthly instead of quarterly.

For reasons into which it is needless here to enter, the publication of the original work was not at once suspended.

The second volume, however, of the Quarterly MISCELLANEA being now completed, and the Monthly Series being established on a firm basis of public support, there appears no reason for prolonging the existence of the former work.

The Quarterly Series, therefore, is now concluded, and the Editor, while tendering his very cordial thanks to all contributors and subscribers, ventures to hope that the future numbers of his Miscellany in its undivided form will be found to deserve the like favour which has been hitherto so kindly accorded to the two distinct publications.

REPORT ON THE PEDIGREE OF THE FAMILY OF THE RIGHT HONOURABLE JAMES CRAGGS, POSTMASTER-GENERAL, THE FATHER OF THE RIGHT HONOURABLE JAMES CRAGGS, SECRETARY OF STATE IN THE REIGN OF KING GEORGE THE FIRST.

The Pedigree of the Right Honorable James Craggs was registered in the College of Arms in the year 1691, commencing with Thomas Craggs of Landew in the Parish of Wolsingham in the county Palatine of Durham and of Wysel otherwise Wyserley in the said County, Gentleman, who was living in 1597 (40 Eliz.). His son John Craggs was of Wysel in 1587 (30 Eliz.) and died 31st December 1607 (6 Jac.) having first married Anne daur. and coheir of John Hutton of Hunwick in the County of Durham in 1584 (27 Eliz.) and 2ndly Barbara daur. of Thomas Bellingham of Garthorne in the County of Westmorland Gentleman. She was living in 1605 (4 Jac.) By Anne his first wife he was father of Thomas Craggs, son and heir, of the age of 15 in 1607 (6 Jac.) and was living 1628 (4 Car.) and married 6th Dec. 1630 (6 Car.), Cecilia daur. of John Garthorne of Clesby in the County of York She was buried at Wolsingham 15 December 1665.

It is stated in a note entered with the pedigree recorded as abovementioned in the College of Arms that the descent of this Thomas Craggs was "drawn out of the evidences of that family by Sir William Dugdale Knight, sometime Norroy, and afterwards Garter Principal King of Arms."

Thomas Craggs by Cecilia Garthorne his wife had 5 sons. 1 Thomas who died without issue; 2 Anthony, of whom hereafter; 3 George; 4 William, who is mentioned in a law suit in Trinity Term 1652 before the Upper Bench at Durham [Liber Nicolai Richardson] "for that Jonathan Devereux of Wolsingham Gent. was attached to answer Katherine Shelley, Spinster, because in 1650 he had by slandering her had prevented her marriage with this William Craggs, Gentleman, being a Bachelor of good and honest reputation and of great wealth and substance"; and 5 John Craggs.

Anthony Craggs the 2nd but eldest surviving son of Thomas, was of Fawlies in the Parish of Wolsingham, and was also of Hole House, in that Parish in 1657, as appears by the baptismal Register of his son James. He appears to have sold Hole House and Wiserley in 1683. He married Anne dau'r of the Revd Ferdinando Morecroft of Goswich in the County Palatine of Lancaster D.D. Rector of Stanhope in Wardall in the Bishoprick of Durham and Prebend of Durham, as appears from the Entry in the College of Arms and from a Monument erected to her Memory at Wolsingham; she having died 3 September 1672 and was buried there. On this Monument her husband is described of Holbeck in the Parish of Wolsingham Gent. He is mentioned as the Brother of William Craggs in the suit above mentioned; as also in a suit in the Chancery of Durham in which "I Fetherstonhalgh gentleman was plaintiff and A. Craggs of Hole House in the County of Durham (in which he is called Gentleman) was defendant" concerning a lease of Wolsingham Mill dated 25 Sept. 27 Car. 2 from Bishop Crewe to the plaintiff, and stating that the Defendant had erected a new Mill &c. An issue had been decreed by the Durham Chancery in 1671. He had issue by his wife Anne Morecroft, two sons, James Craggs of Westminster, Gentleman, and 2nd Ferdinando Craggs. James Craggs appears to have been Steward to the Duke of Norfolk in 1684; and from the pedigree in the College of Arms, he was 30 years of age in 1687, which agrees with the date of his baptism at Wolsingham, 10 June 1657. He married Elizabeth dau'r of Jacob Richards, son of Jacob Richards of Watford in the County of Herts, and sister of Brigadier Michael Richards, Surveyor of the Ordnance.

In the memorandum attached to the Pedigree in the College of Arms it is stated that the descent above recited from the match of Thomas Craggs with Cecilia Garthorne was taken by Thomas Holford Esqre Windsor Herald from the deeds and personal information of this James Craggs in 1687, and the pedigree continued down till 1691 when it was entered. In his Monumental Inscription at Charlton in the County of Kent he is described as one of the H. M. Postmasters General, and son of M^{r} Anthony Craggs of Holbeck Gentleman, and died 16 March 1721. He had issue 3 sons; 1 James, who was born 8th and died 22nd March 1684; 2 James, son and heir, who was born 9 April 1686, and became Secretary of State; and 3 Jacob, who was born 30th August 1688, and died 12th September following; and three daughters.

On the occasion of the Registration of the Arms to James Craggs Esq^{re} of the City of Westminster (father of M^{r} Secretary Craggs) in 1691 he produced a pedigree shewing that he was lineally descended from Thomas Cragg who in 27 Eliz. wrote himself of Landew and Wysel, alias Wyserley co. Durham Gentleman, and produced an affidavit of which the following is a copy

"Appeared Personally John Craggs of Newland in the County of Dublin, in the Kingdome of Ireland, Gent. aged Fifty seven years & upwards, And being sworne upon the Holy Evangelists deposeth, that his Nephew James Craggs of the Citty of Westminster is eldest son of his Brother Anthony Craggs of Fawlyes and Wysell al's Wiserley in the parish of Wolsingham in the County Palatine of Durham by Anne his wife the daughter of Ferdinando Morecroft of Goswich in the County of Lancaster, which said Anthony Craggs his brother, was second son & heir to his father Thomas Craggs by Cicely his wife daughter of Thomas Garthorne of Roodford in the County Palatine of Durham aforesaid, which said Thomas his Father was eldest son and heir of his Grandfather John Craggs of Wysel al's Wyserley in y^{e} County Palatine of Durham aforesaid by Anne his wife who was one of the daughters and coheirs of John Hutton of Hunwick in the County Palatine of Durham aforesaid Esq^{re} And this Deponent further sayth that they and their Descendants have allways used and borne for their Coat of Arms and Crest hereafter mentioned Upon a Fess between three Mullets, as many cross crosslets, and for their Crest, on a Wreath a Dexter and a Sinister Arme armed, holding a Sword erected; which Armes and Crest he this Deponent hath now in his possession in a Seale that was his Grandfathers John Craggs of Wysel alias Wyserley, And this Deponent farther sayth, that he hath often heard his Grandfather John say, that he had the said Seale from his Father, an impression of which Seale is hereunto affixed; And this Deponent farther saith, that he hath seen the said Armes on an Ancient Gravestone w^{ch} belonged to their family and which was destroyed and broke to pieces by the Scots in the time of the Civill Warrs: And also that all their Deeds and Principall Writings were lost and destroyed by hiding them in boxes under ground, from the Outrage of the said Scotts, which this deponent very well remembers, by which meanes, the Evidences of their Family was totally or almost all quite lost, And farther this Deponent said not."

(Signed) John Craggs.

A PEDIGREE AND GENEALOGICAL ACCOUNT OF THE FAMILY OF CRAGGS OF WYSERLEY, IN THE COUNTY PALATINE OF DURHAM, COLLECTED FROM REGISTERS, VISITATION BOOKS, AND OTHER RECORDS, BY JOHN WARBURTON, SOMERSET HERALD.*

This Family came Originaly from Craigy Hall in West Lothian in Scotland, From whence several Illustrious Men have Descended, as John Craig or Cragg, A valient Man, and Captaine of the Castle of Kildrummy For David the Second King of Scots Anno Dom. — Who being Besieged by Edward Baliols Followers, upon the advancing of the Kings Forces under the Command of Robert Lord High Steward, and John Randolph Earl of Murray, who Joined a Doubtful Battle with the Besiegers; Captain Cragg issued fourth of the Castle with his Party and gave Victory by a Notable overthrow of King Davids Enemies; amongst whom fell David Cumine Earl of Athole with many of his Friends on the Baliols side.

Neither hath this Family been less productive of Men of Letters For Doctor Cragg the King of Scots Physitien A° 1620 Author of a Manuscript, Intit. Capnuraniæ seu Comet in æthera Sublimationes refutatio Written in Quarto to the Celebrated Ticho Brahe. Also Master Thomas Cragg the Great Civilian who Published a Book Intit. De Scotorum Origine.

S^r^ Thomas Cragg of Rickerton in Mid Lothian an Eminent Lawyer and Advocate to King James VI, was of this Family, and Carried for his Arms, Ermine on a Fess sable three Crescents argent and for the Crest a Chevalier on Horse Back holding a broken Lance in Bend Proper with this Motto Vive Deo, ut Vivas.

The exact time of this Branch Being transplanted into England, doth not appear, But if conjecture may be allowed, it was in the Reigne of King Edward IV, and that John Craig a valient Comander under that Prince at the Battle of Hexham in Northumberland Anno Dom. 1462 was the Beginner thereof. And it is no less Probable, that the Crest which they, at this time use Viz. a Dexter and Sinister Armed Arm Holding a Sword Erected in Pale was then assigned, and the Estates which they have since enjoy'd in those Parts given to them by that victorious Prince.

The Lands which Anciently belonged to them, in the County of Durham are called Landew, Wyserley, Broadwood, Hole House, Small Ease, and Faisley, all lying in a Rich, and Pleasan Valley, called Wardale, in the Parish of Woolsingham, sixteen miles from the City of Durham; at Landew and Hole House there are goodly Edifices Remaining, the former of which is embattled, or Crenell'd on the Top and sufficiently shows its Antiquity, and on a Stone over one of the Doors, the following Arms are in Sculpture Viz. On a Fess between 3 Mullets as many Cross Crosslets which are the Arms they now use and Probably might Descend to them in Right, of some Heiress Inheritrix thereoff according to the Custome of Former Ages bee used instead of the Paternal Coat.

In the 27^th^ of Queen Elizabeth Thomas Craggs was Lord of Landew who left Issue John Craggs. Which John married Ann one of the Daughters and Coheirs of John Hutton of Hunwick and By her had Thomas Craggs, who married Cecelia Daughter of Thomas Garthorne of Roodford in the County Palatine of Durham which Thomas is Registered amongst the Nobility and Gentry of that County in the Visitation Book made by the Heralds Anno Dom. 1615. Which Thomas being a great Stickler in the Royal Cause during the Civil Warr suffer'd much for his Loyalty, in those Ruinous times. His House being Plundered by the Rebellious Party, and the Deeds and Principal Writings of the Family lost, and destroyed, by being hid in Boxes under Ground, to preserve them from the Outrage of the Enemy, and in the End, he was Necessitated to sell the Estate of Broadwood, which was full three Hundred Pounds p^r^ Annum to defray the great losses, and expence, he had been at in the service of his Sovereign. He left two sons, John and Anthony, John setled at Newland in the Kingdome of Ireland, where he was living A° 1688 aged about Fifty seven years.

* The original pedigree is in the possession of the Earl of St. Germans.

Anthony Craggs succeeded his Father and married Ann Daughter of Ferdinando Moorcroft D.D. and Prebendary of Durham By a Grandaughter of D^{r} James Bishop of that Diocess and By her had

James Craggs Born at Wyserley, and Baptiz'd at Woolsingham June 10th 1657. Which James had his First Rudements of Learning at the Free School in Bishop Aukland in the County of Durham, So soon as he arrived at the age of 21 Years He very Generously Join'd with his Father in Cutting off the Entaile and Selling the Whole Estate, to pay Debts which he was no wayes liable to, and raise Fortunes for the younger Children. At the age of twenty three He came to London where he passed through various Employes, untill he became Private Secretary to the Lord Churchill, since Duke of Marlborough. In the year — He was chosen a Member of the House of Commons for the Borough of Tregony in Cornwall, w^{ch} he continued Representative for untill the Year —. In the year 1695 Being One of the Contractors with the Government for Clothing the Army, and Refusing to give the Parliament satisfaction in Relation to some matters, A Bill was passed to Imprisson him, and he was Comitted to the Tower, together with S^{r} Thomas Cooke, S^{r} Bazil Firebrass, and M^{r} Bates.

In the year — He, and the Lord Cornwalles, were made Joint General Postmasters of England, which Post he enjoy'd till his Death, which hapned after a few Dayes Sickness, Dying as it was Generaly thought Heartbroken for the loss of his Beloved Son, The Right Honourable James Craggs Esq^{r} One of his Majesties Principal Secretarys of State, who departed this Life some short time before him. He married — Daughter of — Richards Esq^{r} of the City of Westminster, A Lady much Celebrated for Beauty, Witt, and Parts, By whom He had James above mencon'd and three Daughters which will be spoake of in their Proper Place.

His character. He was a Person of Comely Appearance, very affable, and of a Cheerful and wining Behaviour. He was Remarkable for his Tallent in Reading Men, and by a Peculiar Way gaining on the Minds of those he Dealt with. He was a Person of great Discerning Wisdome and Industry, and his long Experience and Observations in Buissness had compleatly Qualify'd him for the Governments Service. He was an excellent Economist and Manisher of his Family Affairs, and tho naturally Bountifull, and a Lover of Hospitality, yet alwayes avoided Profuceness, and unecessary Expence and to conclude, He was a Generouse Friend, and Indulgent Parent, A true Patriot of his Country, and a hearty Lover of our happy Constitution.

James Craggs His Only son was born in the City of Westminster Anno Dom. — and educated at the Free School in Chelsea. From whence he was sent to Travel, & having visited most of the Courts in Europe, and for a considerable time Resided at Hanover he Returned to England A^{o} — being then — years of age. Soon after his Return from Travel, He was chosen a Representative in Parliament for the Borough of Tregony in the County of Cornwall, which his Father had Formerly served for, And had not sate long in that August Assembly before his Manly tho easy Eloquence, distinguished him, which with the Gracefullness of his Person, and Deacent Behaviour soon made him Acceptable to the Prime English Nobility of both Sexes. What ever subject he undertook to Speake to He never fail'd to come of with applause, & upon whatever Occasion he employed his Pen, He shew'd a compass of thought, a sweet & uncomon expression, & a Perspecuity scarce to be met with. Which great Qualifications soon advanced him to the Favour of his Majesty (an excellent Judge of Men) who made him Paymaster of the Spanish Troops, and his Resident at the Court of Spaine; and on his being called home anno 1717, He was declared Secretary at Warr, w^{ch} Post, he fill'd with Dignity, and applause, and during his continuance therein, He Successively acquitted himself in many difficult and Important Affaires, For which he was Quallify'd both by natural and acquired abilities. The year following viz. March 16th 1718 He was sworn One of his Majesties most Honourable Privy Councell and one of his Principal Secretaries of State, and in that Nice, Difficult, and Important Post, shew'd all the Prudence, Dexterity, and Sagaciousness, of a most consummate and Able Statesman. And it may be Justly said, He honoured the Post, as much as he was distinguished by it. On the — of February 1721 He was taken ill in the House of Comons, and his Distemper proving the small Pox with Incurable Symptoms, so that the most exquesite care availed nothing; He departed this Life upon the 16th Leaving his Royal Master, his Relations, and Friends, under the deepest and most sensible Sorrow. On the first of March at Night He was Privately Interred in Westminster Abby; The Procession was from the Jerusalem Chamber, The Pall being supported by the Right Honourable Spencer Compton Esqr Speaker of the House of Comons, The Right Honourable Paul Methuen Esqr, Comptroller of his Majesties Household, The Honourable Henry Pelham Esqr Treasurer of the Chamber, The Honourable George Treby Esqr Secretary of War, John Knight Esqr and Walter Plumer Esqr Members of the House of Comons. The Body was Preceded by the Choir of Westminster. From the West Door of the Abby, and being carried up to King Henry the Sevenths Chapell, was there Interred, The Lord Bishop of Rochester Performing the Funeral Service. The Body was laid in the same Vault, where lye those of General Monk, Duke of Albemarle, George Savile Marquis of Hallifax, Charles Montague Earl of Hallifax and the late Mr Secretary Addison.

His Character. He was of a most Graceful size, His Shape, and Mein, excellent; His Features Manly, Yet Beautiful, His looks Open and Gracious, and his Constitution Healthful. In his Conversation, he was Affable, Witty, and Facetious, Very acute, and Penitrating, and of so Even, and Winning a Behaviour, that no Court could have added to the Complisance of his Temper. His Voice was exceeding sweet, tho Masculine, His elocution admirable, which with the strength, and Energy of his Reasoning, made every subject he discoursed upon Harmonious. He was a good Scholer, and Linguist, and not only a Lover of Learning, but Learned men, And tho' his Particular Inclinations was for Poetry, and the Classicks, he was a good Judge, and Bountiful incourager of all the Branches of Literature. He was Brave yet Compassionate in his Nature, and never seemed better pleased then when he had an Opportunity of doing good, and but barely to menc'on His Acts of Charity and Benevolence, would fill a Volume. He was a strict Observer of his Word, and Promise, never disapointing any Person, he undertook to serve, and rather than keep his Suitors in Suspence or disemble with those he could not Gratify, He would soften his Denyals with a Frankness that was no less Obliging. He managed variety of Busness either single, or in consert, with great Dexterity, Ease, and Sufficiency, His Penitration was Deep, his Judgment solid, his Courage undaunted, and by Nature he was formed for a States man, and a Favourite, And to compleat his Character He was a Dutiful Son, a Kind and Bountiful Master, a sincere Friend, A Noble Patron of Men of Merit, and a true Assertor of English Liberty.

He Dyed at the Age of — Years, some Few Dayes before his Father, Leaving three Sisters Viz. Anne Married to John Newsham Esqr of Chadshunt in the County of Warwick, — married to — Trefusis Esq. of — in the County of Cornwall, and — married to — Elliot Esqr of — in the same County.

Which Three Ladies are now Living and Coheirs to their said Fathers and Brothers Estate, Viz. To the Honourable James Craggs Late Postmaster General of England, To the Right Hon. James Craggs, Late one of his Majesties Principal Secretarys of State.

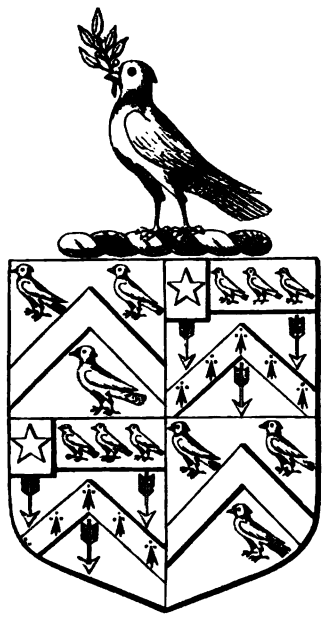
CONFIRMATION OF ARMS, BY SIR JOHN BERNARD BURKE, ULSTER, TO THE REVEREND MATTHEW DAWSON DUFFIELD, CANON OF MIDDLEHAM, VICAR OF STEBBING, CO. ESSEX, 1858.*



To All and Singular to whom these Presents shall come I Sir John Bernard Burke, Ulster King of Arms and Principal Herald of all Ireland, Knight Attendant on the Most Illustrious Order of S^{t} Patrick send Greeting.

Whereas the Reverend Matthew Dawson Duffield† Canon of Middleham, Vicar of Stebbing in Essex and formerly Chaplain to His Royal Highness the late Duke of Cambridge, designated in the official Records of my Office as of Carlton in the Parish of Coverham in the County of York, second and youngest son of the late Richard Duffield Esquire of Theakston in the said County of York, by Anne his wife, third and youngest daughter of Matthew Dawson, and last surviving sister & heir of Roger Dawson of Carlton aforesaid Esquire, hath made it appear to me that the Arms of Duffield originally entered in the Records of Ulster's Office marked "Arms A" page 51. were confirmed to the descendants of his grandfather Thomas Duffield of Ripon in the County York by the late Ulster King of Arms on the 12th January 1848, and hath now applied to me that I would perfect that registration by confirming to him and his descendants the Arms of Dawson to be borne as a quartering with the Coat of Duffield, in right of his mother Anne Dawson, eventually heiress of her brother Roger Dawson of Carlton aforesaid Esquire. Know ye therefore that I the said Ulster King of Arms having taken the request of the said applicant into consideration am pleased to comply with the same, and by virtue of the power to me given by

* The confirmation is in the possession of the Reverend the Count Dawson-Duffield, LL.D., Rector of Sephton, Lancashire.

† The Rev. Matthew Dawson Duffield, F.S.A., died on the 24th of June, 1866, and was buried with his mother's ancestors at Coverham. The Duffields were for a long period owners of land at

Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent under the Great Seal of Ireland and by authority of the same have given and granted and by these Presents do ratify exemplify and confirm unto the said Reverend Matthew Dawson Duffield and his descendants the Arms following Viz. Quarterly 1st and 4th Sable a Chevron Argent between three Doves of the last, beaked and Membered Gules, for Duffield. 2nd and 3rd Azure a Chevron Ermine between three Arrows Or, feathered and barbed Argent; on a Chief of the last three Daws sable, beaked and membered Gules: a Canton also Gules, charged with a Mullet of the third, for Dawson. For Crest, A Dove, in its beak an Olive branch, all proper. And for Motto, Esto semper fidelis, the whole as is above more clearly depicted to be borne and used for ever hereafter by him the said Reverend Matthew Dawson Duffield and his descendants according to the laws of Arms without the let hindrance molestation or interruption of any person or persons whatsoever. In witness whereof I have subscribed these Presents and affixed hereto my Official Seal this Twenty first day of December in the Twenty second year of the Reign of Our Sovereign Lady Victoria by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen Defender of the Faith and so forth, and in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty eight.

Kirkby Malzeard, Grantley, and Burton Leonard, near Ripon. A member of the family, who resided at Grantley, is registered in the Herald's Visitation of the co. of York made in 1666 as having married Mary, daughter of James Favell, of Keireby, in the parish of Kirby Overblows. A branch of the Ripon Duffields settled in Ireland. One of the family married Mary, daughter of Charles Willington, of Ballymoney, King's County, Esquire, and it was to his descendants—as well as those of Thomas Duffield, of Ripon—that the arms of Duffield were confirmed in 1848, by Sir William Betham. Besides the marriage of Richard Duffield to Anne Dawson mentioned in the Patent of Arms printed herewith, there were other intermarriages between the Duffields and Dawsons. Thomas Duffield, of Ripon (father of the Richard Duffield just mentioned), married Mary, daughter of Matthew Dawson, of Ilton, and his brother Richard Duffield married—at Kirkby Malzeard, on the 19th of May, 1730—Beatrice Dawson, and left issue Elizabeth Duffield, who married Thomas Walker, Mayor of Ripon 1775 and 1787, by whom she was mother of Elizabeth Walker, who married Thomas Harrison, M.D., of Bishopton, near Ripon, whose brother William Harrison had a daughter Anne, married to William Dawson, of Azerley Hall, who died in 1828. An emblazoned pedigree on vellum, signed by George Harrison, Windsor Herald, and in the possession of the Rev. the Count Dawson-Duffield, LL.D., Rector of Sephton, near Liverpool,—who, by her Majesty's Royal Licence, bears the name of Dawson before that of Duffield,—shows that Roger Dawson, of Carlton in the time of Queen Elizabeth, was brother to Gilbert Dawson, from whom the Dawsons of Azerley Hall, in the parish of Kirkby Malzeard, descended. The ancient arms of Dawson which were allowed to the Coverdale and Azerley Dawsons, under the signature of Lancaster Herald, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, were sometimes borne quarterly with a more modern shield (ermine on a canton azure a stag lodged or), by the Azerley Dawsons. We find on the monumental brass of Anthony Dawson, who died in 1735, the ancient arms quartered with the more modern coat, whereas on the monumental brass of William Dawson, of Azerley, who died in 1640, the modern coat only appears. The modern coat was also sometimes borne by the Coverdale Dawsons, as appears from a seal which belonged to Roger Dawson, of Coverdale, and which is herewith engraved. Another branch of the Dawsons which was of Spaldingholme bore the same ancient arms as those which belonged to the Dawsons of Coverdale and Azerley, but used a different crest, as shown by the engraving which appears with their pedigree. It is singular that the Coverdale branch of the Dawsons became extinct in the male line in the early part of the present century by the death of Roger Dawson, of Middleham House, co. of York, attorney-at-law; and the branch of the Dawsons long seated at Azerley Hall recently became extinct in the male line by the death of the only son of William Dawson, who was the last of the family connected with Azerley.

Copied from the original Roll in the possession of Thomas Helsby, Esq. The Latinity of the original has been strictly adhered to.

Chaloner, or Challiner, the engrosser and emblazoner of this pedigree, was one of a family long resident in Chester, chiefly employed as herald painters. The design, however, of the pedigree is believed to have been that of Randolph Helsby, who was something of an antiquarian, and, judging from some rough sketches from his pencil, a vigorous and accomplished draughtsman. Below each descent from Jocelyne de Hellesby to Wm. Hellesby and Mabel Vernon is appended the miniature of the descendant and his wife; the husbands are in armour and the wives in the attire of the respective ages in which they lived. Some few of these miniatures are supposed to have been copies of effigies taken from ancient altar-tombs; but the remaining miniatures, from Hugh Hellesby, temp. Hen. VII. and VIII., to Geo. III., are copies of portraits, and, in some cases, of the originals themselves. All are, however, more or less faded. Below each miniature is impaled the shield of arms, and below this again is appended the half-copied charter relating to the particular person under whose name it is written. The charters themselves are sketched as half-rolled up scrolls, and there is a tradition that they were originally copied by Randolph Helsby, whose handwriting at that period it certainly resembles. At the head of the pedigree and immediately below the grand shield of quarterings is the figure of a knight in armour, mounted on a black charger, represented as attired in a surcoat or, sprinkled with sable saltires, with a red cross down the centre of the breast. He bears on his left arm a shield or, charged with a saltire sable. Many representations of banners also adorn this long vellum manuscript, which measures upwards of twenty feet. Although the present pedigree appears to have been engrossed and emblazoned for Randolph, his father, Thomas Helsby, was then alive. It is not known by whom the subsequent additions to the pedigree were made. From the time of Car. I. this document has descended, with other archives, to its present possessor, Thomas Helsby, Esq., of Lincoln's Inn.

MDCCCXXVIII, aged XIX years. R. I. P.

AT WARD END, Co. WARWICK.

The east window of the church is filled with stained glass, and has this inscription:—

To the honour and glory of God, and in pious memory of the late Isaac Marshall, who departed this life at Alum Rock in the Hamlet of Little Bromwich, July 10th 1854.

Notes and Queries.

BRUERE (Vol. I. p. 326).—The following note has been recently sent me by Col. Chester.

P. C. S. B.

"The Will of Bartholomew Bruere, of Southampton Street, in the parish of St. George, Bloomsbury, gentleman, is dated 13 January, 1750/1, and was proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, the 8th May, 1769. It is very brief. He leaves £20 to his daughter Mary Child (by his first wife, Mary Bruere), and the residue of his estate to his daughter Henrietta Bruere (by his second wife, Dorothy Bruere), who proved the will, as executrix, and was then (1769) still unmarried. The witnesses were Jenny Grant, Goulston Bruere, and George Bruere."

Note. This is, of course, the B. Bruere who died in Rathbone Place, in April, 1769.

HENRY MARSHALL.—I shall be glad of any information relative to this person, whose epitaph I copy from Lansdowne MS. 878.

IN ST. MARTIN'S IN THE FIELDS.

"Here lyeth the body of Henry Marshall Esq. servant to Queene Katherine, who married Margarett daughter of Mr Henry Parker by whome he had issue 5 sonns & 4 daughters he departed this life the 21 of Jan. 1673, aged 38 yeares."

In Sloane MS. 516, fo. 15, Barry of six, a canton ermine, impaling a buck's head caboshed between two flanches, is given as the coat belonging to this monument.

Mauleberer Pedigree.

My Pettiegree Collected and Contrived out of myne Ancient & Newe Evidences by me Will'm Mauleu'er Esq^re^* An' R' R'ne Elizab. &c. Quadragesimo Tertio 1601 Ætatis mee Quadragesimo Quinto Aug. xi.

Robert Mauleuerer.

This Rob't is the most Ancient Ancesto^r^ that I finde anie mencon of in myne Evidence, to whose sonne Will'm & Mariott his wife, Will'm sonne of Richard Attwood gaue certaine Landes in Allerton Gleedowe by deed withoute date Witnesses Thom's Chamberlaine of Potter Newton Thom's Wayte and others, So it appeareth y^t^ he had Issue

Will'm Mauleuerer. who maried Mariott the wid. of Ric. Attwood & the mother of Will'm Attwood.

For Thom's y^e^ sonne of Alexander of Allerton released y^e^ mariage of W^m^ Attwood her sonne to her, by his deed bearing date y^e^ sondaie after Martinmas daie An. 6 R. Ed. w^ch^ Will'm Attwood theirfore made the deed last aboue menconed, So it seemeth y^t^ this Will'm Mauleu'er was a younger brother of his father Rob't, And that by this mariage of a wealthie widowe was first advanced. The same Will'm Mauleu'er made a deed of Eight Acres of Land to Agnes y^e^ widowe of Roger Caldcotes dated An. 1336, w^ch^ was about y^e^ tenth yeare of Edw. y^e^ third. To another a lease for ten yeares, to y^e^ Abbott of Christall dated An. 1344 he gave also to W^m^ y^e^ sonne of Ric. Attwood one oxgang of land in Allerton Gleedowe by a deed w^thout^ date, which & all other W^m^ Sowter of Scoles & Agnes his wife sister & heire to Raphe Attwood releassed to Rob^t^ Mauleu'er by a deed dated y^e^ Sondaie after S^t^ Andrewes daie An. Ric. 2, 15 he had Issue, Also ther was Will'm Mauleuerer of Potternewton a witnesse to a dede dated a^o^ 1348.

Robert Mauleuerer who maried one Ma'grett. Will'm Mauleuerer.

For it appeareth y^t^ W^m^ sonne of W^m^ Mauleu'er of Potter Newton released to his brother Rob't all y^e^ moveable goods except &c. w^ch^ his mother Mariott gaue hym by a deed dated 35 of Edw. 3 & in y^e^ same 35 of Edw. 3, by deed then dated did Henrie Clesbie, W^m^ Brandon & Ric. Bantree Chaplaine giue to Rob't Mauleu'er & Margrett his wife & y^e^ heires males of their bodies & for default of such his heir one tenem^t^ in Potternewton, And their is one deed from Rob^t^ Mauleu'er to John Amyas th'elder & John yonger Raphe Browne Chaplaine & Ric' Swallowe of all his Landes in Stubboris Moore,

* Born in 1537, and his Inquisition post mortem dated 1609.

Allerton Gleedowe, Allerton & Potter Newton dated An. 43 Edw. 3. whereby yt is playne he had lands in all these townes at that tyme, he had Issue.

Robert, his wife Elizabeth. John of Cussewoorth. & Isabell.

For John Franke & Margrett his wife Entayled certaine Landes to Rob't y^e^ sonne of Rob't Mauleuerer of Newton & for default of heires of his bodie to John his brother & for default of heires of his bodie to Isabell his sister and for default of such Issue to y^e^ heire of Rob't, dated An. Edw. 3. 51. It appeareth y^t^ he liued all K. Ric. 2 daies, for W^m^ Breareley & his wife Emma made a deed to him of Landes in Moor Allerton dated 22 Ric. 2. And Rob't Harrison of Thorner & Agnes his wife daughter of Henrie Cartwright of Shadwell gaue him & his wife Elizabeth by deed all their Land in Shadwell & elsewhere dated An. 20 R. 2, & Rob't Mauleu'er made a deed to John Amyas John Mauleu'er & others dated An. 1 Henr. 4, And W^m^ Brearley & Agnes wife of Tho. Brearley his father made a deed to y^e^ s^d^ Rob't & John his brother bearing date An. Hen. 4. 4°, so both Rob't and John were then alyve, And K. Henr. 4 gaue him for his good service done against henrie Pearcie Earle of Northumberland & Tho. Bardolphe & other Rebels y^e^ milnes at Yorke for his life, by his L'res Patentes, dated 11 Maij An. R'ni ejus 9. And his accompt taken of y^e^ Rent. 13 Novembr An. R'ni eius 11. So he was lyving so long, In y^e^ viij^th^ yeare of Henr. 4 John Boswell of Ardesley to whom Tho. Brearley (heire thereof by Ancient Charters to his Ancestors from Mowbray Moorvill, Stutevill & others which I haue) gaue y^e^ same by deed dated at Wothersome Januar. 7 An. 2 Ric. 2. made a deed of Wothersome to y^e^ vse as maie seeme of y^e^ s^d^ Rob't Mauleu'er to certaine feoffees, one whereof was John Mauleu'er y^e^ forenamed brother of Robt, & to his heires dated An. 8 Hen. 4, which John called John of Cusseworth did release all his right & entrest theirin to his brother Rob't Mauleu'er by his deed dated An. 4 Hen. 5, So it appeareth they were both y^e^ brethren lyving so long, And in y^e^ 10 yeare of Hen. 5 did Galfride Tailer & his wife Beatrix heire to John Browne of Moor Allerton make a deede to Rob't Mauleu'er of Wothersome of certaine Land in Moor Allerton, So it seemeth he liued so long, And began to be Mauleu'er of Wothersome, whereas before they were of Potter Newton, And W^m^ Drighton of Newton made a deed to him & John of Cusseworth of Landes in Chappell Allerton An. 2 Hen. 6 & W^m^ Killingbeck to him An. 3 Hen. 6, Naie it appeareth plainelie he was living in y^e^ 20 yeare of Hen. 6 for he made a deed to his brother John & others to y^e^ intent they should Enfeoffe his wife Elizab. of Wothersome for her life, Remainder to S^r^ W^m^ Mauleu'er his sonne (y^e^ first Knight) & his heires males & for default of such Issue to John & his heire males, Eltofte, Thorner, Shadwell & Brittbie to Rob't y^e^ sonne & heire of S^r^ W^m^ aforesd & his heir males & so to John & his heire males & for default of Issue to S^r^ W^m^ his sonne & his heire Dated Written at Wothersome ffridaie next after the ascension, An. 20 Hen. 6. w^ch^ he made in maner of a will with all, They made y^e^ ffeoffement according y^e^ 22 Hen. 6 to dame Elizabeth, the said Rob't had Issue

S^r^ Will'm Mauleuerer K^t^.

He maried Johan daughter one of y^e^ heires of S^r^ John Covill Knight & of Alice daughter of y^e^ Lo. darcy as appeareth by y^e^ deed of y^e^ p'tition dated 18 Henr. 6 by w^ch^ deed he had Arnecliffe and other Landes, by w^ch^ deed it appeareth y^t^ he had Issue

S^r^ Robt Mauleuerer Knight. This S^r^ Rob'ts wife was named dame Johan. Will'm. John died without issue. Henry. Edmonde.

For y^e^ s'd S^r^ W^m^ made a lease to his sonne Rob't of Wothersome reserving viij markes to Elizab. mother of y^e^ s^d^ S^r^ W^m^ dated 11 Septembr 25 Hen. 6 he had Issue also besides Rob't W^m^, John, Henrie & Edmond as appeareth by his deed to S^r^ Thomas Nevill K. brother to y^e^ Earle of Westm'land & those iiij^or^ sonnes dated at Arnecliffe febr. 4 an. 24 Henr. 6. The s^d^ Rob't sonne of S^r^ W^m^ was after Knight & had Issue,

Notes to Fanshawe Pedigree,

Communicated by E. J. Sage Esq.

A Katherine, daughter of Thomas, first Viscount Fanshawe, born 1640, died 1726.

[1] Robert Fanshawe.

[2] John Fanshawe was buried at Dronfield, 23rd February, 1578. He was eldest son and heir of Robert Fanshawe, and married Margaret, daughter of Rowland Eyre.

[3] Henry Fanshawe was second son of Robert, though his name is placed first in this pedigree. He first married Thomasine Hopkins, by whom he had no surviving issue. It is doubtful whether the father of his second wife was a knight. See Funeral Certificate of Henry Fanshawe, vol. i. p. 314.

[4] Anne Fanshawe died unmarried,—of this there cannot be the least doubt. On the 2nd of April, 1584, she made her will, in which she describes herself as an unmarried woman, and five days afterwards she was buried in Barking Church. The will was proved by her sister, Susanna Lucy, and by her brother-in-law, Timothy Lucy, in the month of June following her death. The statement that she was married to William Fuller, repeated in the family pedigree and in Lady Fanshawe's Memoir of Sir R. Fanshawe, is therefore altogether wrong.

[5] Timothy Lucy, son of William Lucy, of Charlcote, was of Valence, in Dagenham, co. Essex, and of Hugford Middleton, co. Salop. He died January 21, 1616, and was buried at Bitterley, co. Salop.

[6] Of Ware Park, co. Herts, and Jenkins, co. Essex. See his Funeral Certificate, vol. i. p. 315.

[7] Died in May, 1622.

[8] His first wife was Diana, daughter of . . . Eyre, of Bredway, co. Derby. In the family pedigree it is stated that the whole of his large family were the children of the first wife.

[9] See notes to Extracts from Parish Registers. It may be sufficient to refer to the notes to Registers generally for information of most or all of the persons mentioned in this pedigree.

[10] And of Brittons, in Hornchurch, co. Essex.

[11] Sir H. Fanshawe died in 1616; Elizabeth, his widow, in 1631.

[12] See his Funeral Certificate, vol. i. p. 316.

[13] See Funeral Certificate, vol. i. p. 317. All the existing families of Fanshawe descend from this William Fanshawe.

[14] Died in 1615 or 1616, buried at Rivenhall.

[15] Sir Simon Fanshawe, ob. 1680. See notes to Ware Registers.

[16] Ob. 1665. For particulars of Viscount Fanshawe and his two wives, see notes to Ware Registers.

[17] See his Funeral Certificate, vol. i. p. 318.

[18] Sir Thomas Cambell was of Clay Hall, in Barking, co. Essex.

[19] Catherine died unmarried in 1726. Elizabeth became the second wife of her cousin, the last Sir Thomas Fanshawe of Jenkins, and died in 1728.

[20] Died in 1660, s. p.

[21] Father of Evelyn, third Viscount, and died 1674.

[22] Sir John Evelyn was of West Dean.

[23] Henry Fanshawe was of Dengey Hall, co. Essex, and died, unmarried, in 1685. Charles succeeded his nephew Evelyn as fourth Viscount in in 1687, and died, unmarried, in 1710. Simon Fanshawe succeeded his brother as fifth Viscount, and died, unmarried, in 1716, when the title became extinct.

[24] Died unmarried, at Clerkenwell, in 1694.

Fanshawe.

Gordon Willoughby James Gyll.†

* James Franklin Fuller, son of Thomas Harnett Fuller, by Fanny Diana Bland, his wife (daughter of the late Francis Christopher Bland, D.L., of Derriquin Castle, by his wife, Lucinda Herbert), married Helen, daughter of John Prospère Guivier, and granddaughter of John, Baron Guvier, of Corsica (who served in the Grand Army and fell in the retreat from Moscow), and has issue Franklin Bland Fuller, Harnett John Fuller, May Florence Fuller, and Adela Bessie Fuller.

Thomas Harnett Fuller has also two daughters, Bessie Fuller, and Louisa, who married Arthur, eldest son of Frederick Hyde, Esq., J.P., of Hollywood, and has issue a son, Arthur.(a)

This family claims to derive from Thomas Fuller, the celebrated Author of 'The Church History of Britain,' 'Worthies of England,' etc. etc., Rector of Cranford, in Middlesex, D.D., and Chaplain to the King (see pedigree of Fuller in 'Miscellanea Genealogica et Heraldica,' vol. i. p. 214, and also in 'Gentleman's Magazine' for September and October, 1866), thus:—Thomas Harnett Fuller is son of Captain Edward Fuller (by his wife, Elizabeth Blennerhassett), who was the son of Thomas Fuller, of Lee Mount, sometime Treasurer of Cork (by his wife, Ann Purcell, of Gurtenard), son of William Fuller(b) (by his wife, Jane Harnett, of Ballyhenry), who was the son of Thomas Fuller (by his wife, believed to have been a daughter of the Hon. Elizabeth Blennerhassett, who was the mother of Thomas Harnett Fuller, was daughter of the Rev. John Blennerhassett, Rector of Tralee (by his wife, Margaret, daughter of Captain Thomas Goddard), who was the son of Edward Blennerhassett (by his wife, Mary, daughter of Edward Fitzgerald), who was the son of John Blennerhassett (by his wife, Elizabeth, daughter of Rev. Benjamin Cross, Rector of Christ Church, Cork), who was the son of Robert Blennerhassett (by his wife, Avis, granddaughter of Jenkin Conway), who was the son of John Blennerhassett (by his wife, Martha Lyne), who was the son of Robert Blennerhassett (by his wife, Elizabeth, daughter of Jenkin Conway), who was the son of Thomas Blennerhassett, of Flintby, in Cumberland.

The Rev. Benjamin Cross aforesaid married Ann Eveleigh, who was daughter of the Very Rev. John Eveleigh, Dean of Ross, by his wife, Mildred Caldwell, who was daughter of Thomas Caldwell, by his wife, Jane Boyle, who was daughter of Michael Boyle (by his wife, Jane Peacock), and sister of Richard Boyle, Archbishop of Tuam, of Michael Boyle, Bishop of Waterford, and first-cousin to the Earl of Cork.

Fanny Diana Bland, wife of Thomas Harnett Fuller, is a daughter of Francis Christopher Bland, D.L., by his wife, Lucinda Herbert, who was daughter of Arthur Bastable Herbert (by his wife, Barbara Hutchinson (who was the son of Bastable Herbert (by his wife, Barbara, daughter of the Knight of Kerry, and of Elizabeth Crosbie, sister of the first Lord Brandon), who was the son of Arthur Herbert (by his wife, Mary Bastable), who was the son of Thomas Herbert, of Muckross, High Sheriff of Kerry in 1659 (by his wife, Mary, daughter of Edward Kenny, of Cullen, co. James Bland, Chaplain to Lord Deputy Sidney, Dean of Ardfert and Archdeacon of Aghadoe (by his wife, Lucy, daughter of Sir Francis Brewster and Ann Cramer), who was son of John Bland, who was son of Rev. John Bland, who suffered martyrdom at Canterbury in the reign of Queen Mary.

† Of Remenham House, Wraysbury. For pedigree of Gyll family, see 'Miscellanea Genealogica,' Vol. II. p. 26.

(a) The brothers and sisters of Thomas Harnett Fuller now living, are John Blennerhasset Fuller; Bessie Fuller, married to Arthur Helps, Esq., Clerk of the Privy Council (and has issue, of whom one, Melicent, is married to William Stone, Esq., M.P. for Portsmouth, and has issue a son); Anne Fuller, married to the Venerable Nathaniel Bland, Archdeacon of Aghadoe. A brother, Edward Goddard Fuller, and a sister, Louisa, died unmarried.

* The allegations were discovered by Colonel Chester during a patient examination of the records of the Registries mentioned, and after they had escaped the observation of all other gleaners in the same field.

"Milton had been totally blind for about ten years before his third marriage; and I do not know that any authentic specimen of his handwriting has been found of later date than about 1652. Hence that slanting, blotched signature, with the bad scraping pen, has a peculiar value. I have looked at it with reverent curiosity." (Professor Masson to Colonel Chester.)

PARSONS FAMILY.—I shall be much obliged to any of your correspondents who will furnish me with information relative to the family of Sir John Parsons, Lord Mayor of London. I subjoin such particulars as I have already met with.

From Le Neve's Pedigrees of Knight's, Harleian MS. 5802, fo. 26 b:—

"London. Sir John Parsons Sherriffe Elect Knighted at Windsor Castle 15 Aug^{t} 1687. Lord Mayor of London 1703, chosen then and served till October 1704. See if he had not a grt of arms by S^{r} E. Bysh, see my MSS. of Grants & Docketts Segar etc. fol. 100 B.*

"Sir John Parsons of London Sheriff Lord Mayor 170—, Alderman of — Ward, a brewer by S^{t} Katherines his bear famous, called S^{r} John Parsons beer, dyed — day of — 1716 bur. at —. = — daur of Milward a Merchant & had about 6000 with her.

Humphrey Parsons Esq. Alderman of London for — Ward chosen 1720."

By the kindness of Mr. Hart, of Reigate, I am enabled to add the following account from Glover's MS. account of Reigate Priory:—

"Charles Viscount Mordaunt & Avelon in 1681 before he succeeded to the title of Earl of Peterborough, sold the Priory Estate (at Reigate) to John Parsons Esq. Alderman of London who was afterwards Knighted. Sir John Parsons by his will devised this Estate to his second son, Humphrey Parsons, Esq., afterwards Alderman of London. Humphrey settled these estates upon himself and M^{rs} Sarah Parsons his wife for life with remainder to their heirs male, with the Reversion to himself & his heirs; and by his will he gave the same Reversion to his eldest son John. Humphrey Parsons died in 17—, and his son some time afterwards becoming bankrupt, the Commissioners under the Commission of Bankruptcy assigned the Reversion of this Estate, according to the interest John Parsons had therein at the time of his bankruptcy, to William Belchier of London Esquire, John Ingram of Bewdley in Worcestershire Esq^{r}; and M^{rs} Parsons, the mother of John, purchased the Reversion and the same was conveyed to her absolutely by the Assignees & her son.

"M^{rs} Parsons resided in the Priory House till her death; and by her Will dated 10th December 1749 gave it to Sir John Hynde Cotton Baronet and Thomas Towers Esquire In trust to pay an Annuity of £200 to her Son John for life, and an Annuity of £100 to Sarah Dunn for life, and she gave all the Residue of the Rents of the Estates unto her Daughter Ann, the Lady of Sir John Hynde Cotton for Life, and after Lady Cotton's Death she gave the Fee Simple of the Estate to Lady Cotton's Children. But M^{rs} Parsons in 1752, by a Codicil to her Will revoked the Gift of the Annuity to her Son she having settled upon him another Annuity of the same value.

"In 1766 Sir John Hynde Cotton obtained an Act of Parliament 'For Sale of the Manor, Capital Messuage and late dissolved priory of Reigate in the County of Surrey; and also of several Freehold and Copyhold Lands, Tenements, and Hereditaments in the Counties of Surrey & Sussex late the Estate of Sarah Parsons Widow deceased for raising money to discharge Incumbrances affecting the same.' And by this Act all the above Estates were vested in Jacob Houblon of Hallingbury in Essex, Esquire, & John Wogan of Gandy Hall in Norfolk, Esquire, and their Heirs, upon Trust to sell and discharge the Incumbrances upon the Estates, and to purchase other Estates which were to be settled to the same Uses as were mentioned in M^{rs} Parsons's Will.

"The Incumbrances upon the Estate were Mortgages to Samuel Vanderwall, Esquire for sixteen thousand pounds, and William Wilson, Esquire, for ten thousand pounds; but more upon this head may be seen by referring to the Act of Parliament in the Appendix.

"All the Estates mentioned in the Act of Parliament were sold by Auction in July 1766, and M^{r} Richard Ireland became the purchaser of the Priory House with about Seventy six Acres of Land at four thousand pounds." G. W. M.

* Where is this MS. now deposited?

BUCKINGHAM FAMILY.—Information wanted respecting Thomas Buckingham, who emigrated to Boston, U.S., June 26, 1637, with Davenport, Eaton, Peter Prudden, and others. He went to New Haven in April, 1638, and to Milford, U. S., where he settled, in 1639. It has been stated that he came from Wales, but it seems more probable that he was from Buckinghamshire. The arms, which have been long in the possession of the American family, supposed to have been brought by the first settler, are—or an eagle displayed proper; crest, a stag's head erased. F. W. CHAPMAN, M.A.

PHILIP HAWKINS.—To a conveyance of a tenement in the borough of Tregony, dated 23rd December, 1673, from Edward Cary, of Tregony, son and heir apparent of Nathaniel Cary, of the said borough, deceased, to Charles Trevanion, of Carihayes, Esq., is appended the signature of Philip Hawkins, attorney to Edward Cary (so constituted in this deed). The signature of Edward Cary occurs on the fold. He has, however, used the seal on which are represented the arms of Hawkins,—on a saltire five fleurs de lis,—in all probability belonging to Philip Hawkins. I am anxious to ascertain some particulars respecting the pedigree of this gentleman, who, according to Gilbert, resided at Pennance, in the parish of Creed, and died in the early part of last century, and is said by Tonkin to have been the most wealthy attorney which Cornwall ever produced. Gilbert, in his 'History of Cornwall,' vol. ii. p. 860, states that Pennance was erected by Philip Hawkins, an eminent attorney, the descendant of a respectable family in Devon. He married a Miss Scobell, and had issue two sons and five daughters. John, the eldest son, was sometime Master of Pembroke College, Cambridge; he died 30th July, 1736, and was buried at Creed. Philip, the second son, was a barrister, and M.P. for Grampound; he died, s. p., August 30, 1738, and was also buried at Creed. Should there be inscriptions commemorating these gentlemen in Creed Church, I should feel much obliged for copies.

High Street, Bloomsbury. J. COLEMAN.

VAVASOUR OF SPALDINGTON.—The pedigree of this family (vol. i. pp. 193–4) does not correct an important error,—an old one, too, as occurring in Tong's Visitation of Yorkshire, 1530, repeated in Glover's, 1584, and thence into all Baronetages, etc. The founder of this family, John Vavasour, who married Isabel, granddaughter and coheir of Peter del Hay, of Spaldington, is wrongly described as a son of William Vavasour, of Haselwood (Tong's Visitation). This William was inserted in the Haselwood pedigree in Glover's Visitation as husband of Joan, daughter of Sir John Langton, whose real name was Henry, not William: he died 1452 (M. I. Haselwood Chapel), leaving two sons, Henry and William (will. Test. Ebor.).

John Vavasour, of Spaldington, was the younger son of Sir Henry Vavasour, of Haselwood, and Margaret, daughter of Sir William Skipwith, and brother of the above Henry. He is mentioned in his mother's will (Test. Ebor.), and identified by a deed, dated 1 Henry V., entailing the manor of Halton-super-Humber on him and his heirs after his mother's death, remainder to his elder brother Henry, etc. (Lansd. MS. 207 C, p. 628). This manor descended to the Justice Sir John Vavasour, of Spaldington, who died s. p. (Inq. p. m., 22 Henry VII.),—Peter Vavasour, æt. 22 et ampl., nephew and heir, son of his deceased brother William.

To show that implicit reliance is not to be placed on the statements in Tong's Visitation,—Sir Peter Vavasour (then living) is made the judge's grandson, instead of nephew.

The early part of the Vavasour pedigree requires revision throughout the branch of Dennaby descended from Robert Vavasour, who married the sister and heiress of Roger le Breton; and dates will not allow the brother, Mauger, mentioned in the will of Sir Henry Vavasour, of Haselwood, 1311 (Durham Wills, publ. by Surtees Soc.), to be the ancestor of the Vavasours of Denton and Askwith and of Weston. It is very improbable that Maud (ux. 1 Theobald Walter, 2 Fulk Fitzwarin) was even half-sister of John, if explained by the circumstances of the late Earl of Leicester's family. The heir (probably this John, and, perhaps, grandson) of Robert Vavasour was a minor in the custody of Robert de Cockfield, 1231 (Rot. Fin.). A. S. ELLIS.

DE LA VACHE, RESTWOLD, AND CHEYNEY.—I have compiled the following pedigree from Lipscomb's 'History of Bucks,' vol. viii. pp. 607, 609; Langley's 'History of Desborough;' Nichol's 'History of Leicestershire,' vol. ii. part 2, p. 916; Dugdale's Warwick, p. 691; Harl. MSS., 1139, 1151, 1391, 1429, 1533, 4630, 5832; 'Calend^m Inquis. p. Mortem'; 'Memorials of the Order of the Garter,' by G. F. HART OF WITNEY, OXFORDSHIRE.—When William Penn contemplated founding his colony of Pennsylvania under the grant of territory from Charles II., John Hart, of Witney, yeoman (son of Christopher and Mary Hart), resolved to accompany him. At this time he was nearly thirty-two years of age, having been born 16th November, 1651.

In view of his emigration, he, in conjunction with others, entered into a sealed agreement with Penn, on the 11th July, 1681, to purchase one thousand acres of lands lying in the province of Pennsylvania. John Hart was accompanied to America by his sister Mary, who was born at Witney, 1st April, 1658; she died unmarried. Any additional information relating to the Hart family will be greatly esteemed by

by his wife, "Anne, descended of the family of Mansfield of repute and antiquity," and grandson of William Edwyn, of the Field, near Hereford, who is said to have been of the family of Edwin of Holmer, which was a younger branch of the ancient lords of the manor of Wistaston, in Marden. He was born about 1642, and having settled in London, became one of the most eminent merchants of that city; served as Master of the Guild of Barbers and Surgeons in 1688; was admitted free of the worshipful Company of Skynners; elected Alderman of the Ward of Tower, Sheriff in 1687–8, and Lord Mayor in 1698–9; married Elizabeth, sister of Sir Jeremy Sambrooke, Knt., and daughter of Samuel Sambrooke, of London, merchant (descended of the family of Sambrooke of Sambrooke, co. Salop), and by this dame, who survived him till November, 1714 (he himself having died in December, 1707), he had issue—Edith, wife of William Coney, Esq., of Walpole, co. Norfolk,—Anne, who died unmarried and was buried in St. Margaret's Church, Ipswich, in 1761, and a daughter ——, who died unmarried, 15 October, 1736,—and five sons, viz.:—

I. Samuel Edwin, of Llanmihangel Plâs, co. Glamorgan, who, by his wife, the Lady Katherine, daughter of Robert, third Earl of Manchester, had a son, Charles Edwin, M.P. for Westminster and Glamorganshire, and a daughter, Anne, who became sole heiress to her brother and the second wife of Thomas Wyndham, of Cromer, Norfolk, and Clearwell Court, co. Gloucester, by whom she had John Wyndham, a younger son, and Charles Wyndham, heir to his uncle's large estates in Glamorganshire, Sussex, and Surrey, who took the name of EDWIN, was for many years M.P. for Glamorganshire, and left an only son and heir, Thomas Wyndham, of Dunraven Castle, the father of Caroline, Countess of Dunraven.

II. Thomas Edwin, who married, 1719, Margaret, daughter of Sir Francis Rolle, of Tetherley, co. Hants, and relict of Sigismund Stydolph, of Headley, co. Surrey, but died s. p. in May, 1735.

III. Charles Edwin, of Lincoln's Inn, barrister-at-law, who died April, 1724, left a widow, Abigail, relict of Edward Lockey, of the Middle Temple, and daughter of Sir Roger Hill, Knt., of Denham Place, Bucks, M.P. for Amersham, 1679. And by a former wife he had a daughter, Martha, married to Charles Dalrymple, brother to Sir Hugh Dalrymple, Bart.; and a son and heir, Humphrey Edwin, of Lincoln's Inn, barrister-at-law, and of St. Albans, where he died 7 October, 1775, leaving—by his wife, Mary, only child of William Thompson—an only daughter and heiress, Elizabeth, who was married 6 June, 1754, to Thomas Corbett, of Darnhall, Cheshire, and of Lincoln's Inn, barrister-at-law, who had issue, inter alios, William, who took the name of Thompson before that of Corbett, and a daughter, Charlotte, wife of Captain John Bourchier, R.N., whose daughter, Susannah, was married to John Cole, of Easthorpe Court, in Wigtoft.

IV. Humphrey Edwin, of Savile Row, Westminster, and of Berkshire, died s. p., 8 December, 1747, aged 77.

V. John Edwin, of Headley, Surrey, married, 1731, Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Roger Bradshaigh, of Bradshaigh, Bart., and died 4 May, 1753, aged 72, leaving an only daughter and heiress, Elizabeth.

As the writer is preparing a memoir of the Edwins, he would be glad if any genealogist could supply him with the connecting links between Sir Humphrey's grandfather and the Edwins of Holmer. Also with the name of his daughter, who died in 1736; of the name and parentage of Charles Edwin's first wife; and the same particulars as to the husband of John Edwin's only daughter, Elizabeth. OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Extracted from the 'Chelmsford Chronicle,' of May 29, 1868.

"This Seventh Number contains the account of Canewdon, which Mr. Benton deals with in the same careful and painstaking way as with the other parishes over which he has passed. He is very exact in the description of estates, in general bringing the ownership of them down to the present time; and his observations on the land and its management are valuable, as being those of a practical man."

* The names marked with an asterisk show the commencement of the modern part of the roll, but by whom these subsequent additions were made is not known; they are in a plain modern hand, written some seventy or eighty years ago.

† The names thus marked show the addition of the three last generations in another hand, of a few years later date than the last.

The old part of this pedigree appears to have been engrossed and illuminated in the lifetime of Robert Heskaith, the husband of Mary Stanley and Blanch Twyford, about the year 1594, but by whom there is no record. It is elaborate and beautiful in design and execution. Through the whole length runs an oak-branch, with leaves and acorns, for the male line, and rose and laurel branches for the lines of the heiresses. Behind the roundle of each descent, from Sir William Heskayth (4 Ed. I.) to Robert Hesketh and Mary Stanley (temp. Elizabeth) is a kit-cat portrait, or large miniature painting, of the descendant and his wife or wives, the knights being clad in armour and the rest in the gay and picturesque civilian costumes of the periods in which they respectively lived. Some of these portraits are, doubtless, from old altar-tombs, long since destroyed; but the later paintings—from about Edward IV.'s time or a little later—appear to have been copied from authentic portraits of the several persons represented. These pedigree miniatures are all in excellent preservation, the colours being perfectly bright and fresh. Beneath each descent is a somewhat large square shield, containing the quarterings and impalements throughout,—the grand shield of quarterings, splendidly emblazoned, being at the foot of the pedigree.

This roll is on the finest vellum and of unusual breadth (one foot nine), measuring upwards of eighteen feet in length.

The notes scattered up and down the MS. are valuable additions, particularly that relating to the Harrington family, the information it contains having been looked for in vain by experienced antiquaries. But besides the marriages here mentioned, Katherine married, firstly, Roger Hulton, of Hulton, Esq., and Margaret, another sister and coheir, married, firstly, Christopher Hulton, of Farnworth, Esq. A very rare letter, descended from the Torbocks of Torbock to Thomas Helsby, Esq., of Lincoln's Inn,—the only Lancashire letter of its age that has been published or perhaps discovered may here be given, relating as it does to the families mentioned in the Harrington notes, and corroborating the correctness of a portion of them in a remarkable manner:—

"To my Cosyn Rauf Torbok esquier be ths deliue'ed.

"Cosyn I com'ande me vnto you & c^{t} And where^{s} I am informed by ths bairer William Walmurley that ȝe intend to take for from hym c't'en londs of yours wiche "hath lyne tyme owte of mynde to hs holdyng I hertily pray you to be gudde mayst' to hym in the same so that hee may occupy as hee hath done afortyme: Also I am "informed by ths said bayrer that on' Ienken haurokes of the folds claymeth a way trothe ths bayrer holdyng wiche as hee sauoth ys co'trary to ryght & gude consyons: "cosyn I pray you to speke w^{t} the said haurokes so y^{t} the mat' myght reste vnto som resonabull day & I schalbe redy to me you on the said grounde & y^{t} at oghe to be "downe of ryght schalbe hadde. W^{t} loue and fau' cosyn ths bayrer schalbe aftur the de'sses of my lady* haryngton ten . . . my cosyn tressam & his Wyf who hath made "me thayr stuard of all th . . . in ths contr' & therfor I pray you to be gude mayst^{r} to ths bayrer . . . for my sake & yf yt lyueth in me to do you Any pleseur I schalbe "as glade . . . owr lorde Whom kepe you.

"Alex' Radcliff."

* Lady Haryngton was the widow of Sir James, and being the daughter of Sir Alexander Radcliffe, would probably be the brother of the writer of this letter. The Tressams were a Northamptonshire family, which facts, together with the appearance, style, and caligraphy of the letter, fix its age pretty accurately at about four hundred years.

The Copie of the restitution of the Armes of Mildmay.

To all and singuler aswell nobles and others to whome these presentes shall come Robert Cooke Esquire alias Clarencieulx principall herold and kinge of armes of the est west and South partes of the realme of England from y^e Ryver of Trent southwardes Salutem. As it is dayly seene that tyme (Destroyer and consumer of all thinges) throwes downe and extinguishes many auntient & honorable families, or by alteringe & translatinge their houses & habitations obscures their worthy races and extractions, that thereby Gods iustic may be felt and mans patience tryed. So comes it to passe as often that the same tyme (mother of truthe) bringeth to light & discovereth to be gentlemen of Longe and Auncient contynuance dyvers whose auncestors (Sondry yeares beffore) were not reputed of such Antiquitie, that therby the same Gods mercy may be sene & his bou'tie praysed. And this to be so I fynd p'ntly manifested in the stocke or Linage whereof S^r Walter Mildmay Knight Chauncelor of the Exchequer and one of the Queenes Ma^ties most honorable privy Counsell is Descended. For proof wherof this day hath his sonne and heire apparant Anthony Mildmay an Esquire of her Ma^ties stable shewed vnto me (in the presence of dyvers other Heralds) such auntient credible and authenticall deedes, Charters, Recordes, wrytinges, evidences, and letters, some Sealed with Seales of Armes aswell of their Auncestors, as of dyvers noble Erles Barons & other great p'son'ges of this Land (namely of Symon S^t lize Erle of Huntingdon & Northampton, of Gilbert Marshall Erle of Penbroke, of Tho^s Hollande Erle of Kent & Duke of Surrey, of Edmond and Humfrey Erles of Stafford, of Ric Nevill Erle of Warwike, of Anne Nevill Duchess of Buckingham, and of John Abbott of Evesham,) As notwithstandinge any doubt that might grow thorough lenght of tyme or ignorance of Evidence, it appeers cleerly that y^e said S^r Walter is by fourtene discentes (from father to sonne) Lineally & Lawfully extracted of the body of a very auncient gentleman of this land called Hugh de Mildmay, whoe (witnesse a deede of the said Erle Symons) lyved about King Stephens tyme, now foure hundreth and thirtie yeares past, and had yssue one S^r Robert Mildmay

* Harleian MSS. No. 245.

Knight, & this Knight one Roger, and this anothr Roger a Knight, & he Sr Henry de Mildemay senior, then he one Raphe de Mildemay, & he another Raphe, and this Raphe one Henry de Mildemay iunior, & he one Robert de Mildemay, & he another Robt, who had yssue Thos Mildemay father to Walter Mildemay, who was ye 1 of that surname, being an officer, in the said Anne Duchess of Buckinghams house at Writle in Essex, that came out of the west & dwelt in that Countie: where he left yssue Thoe Mildemay of Chelmsford in Essex father to Thos of Mulsham, to Wm of Barns in Springfeld in ye same countie, to John of Cretingham in Suffolk, and to this Sr Walter of Apthorpe in ye Countie of Northampton Knight. And as the continuance of this said gentlemans house hath ben longe, & the discent therof (witnesse the Evidences & Charters aforesaid) most direct & true (being very probable to haue ben a family of Gentlemen longe beffore the farthest tyme aforesaid recyted) So is it as manifest, by ye severall Seales of ye abouenamed Henry de Mildmay senior & Henry de Mildmay iunior now remayning in the Custody of ye said Sr Walter fayre & whole at their deedes emongest the evidences aforesaid yt an auncient cote of Armes p'tayneth p'perly to ye same house & family. ffor these 2 being great grandfather on to another, beares therein their Scoutchions circumscript wth their p'per names & surnames 3 lyons Rampynge wch be azure in a feild siluer, for none els in this land gyves the same: as by most diligent searche made in ye oldest & newest Recordes & Registers of myne office is to be seene & prooved. And therfore (being therunto requested) here I haue delyuered vndr my hand & Seall of myne office, ye said Armes, as in ye margent herof depicted more playnly is shewed. ffurther for ye better contynewance therof in memory I haue subscribed a pedegree (bearing this date) wherein orderly & verbatin be inrolled all ye said deedes, Charters Wrytings & minimentes in ye custody (as is aforesaid) of the said Sr Walter. Vnto whome & his heires & to ye heires of his father, by power & authority to me comytted by l'res patentes vndr ye great Seale of England, & by vertue of myne office aforesaid, I do by these p'ntes restore, ratify & confirme ye said Armes, yt is to say ye feild argent 3 lyons Rampynge asure, yt he & they ye same may beare vse & shewe foorth in Sheild, Cote armour or otherwise with their due Diffrence, at his or their pleasures according to their auncient & true right, & wth out impediment, lette, contradiction, Challenge, or interruption of any p'son or p'sons what soeuer. Dated at London the 20 of August Anno D'ni 1583. And in ye 25 yere of the reigne of our Sou'aigne Lady Elizabeth by ye grace of god of England france and Ireland Queene defendor of the faith &c.

And I Robert Cooke Esquire alias Clarencieulx Harrold and Principall Kinge at Armes do heere certifye vnto all men, that there is no more cause of scruple or doubte to be conceyved in this sirname of Mildemay for the Alteringe augmentinge or leavinge foorthe of some one letter or other in menns wrytinge therof now at this present tyme, of late yeares or before in any evidences or other wrytings, then in a multitude of other gent' Sirnames of the Lande that length of tyme & errours of writers haue & dayly bringe into y^e^ same case.

And for example almost all those Sirnames that in Auncient tyme ended in Leigh, be now written (for the most part) in Ley; as Audeley for Audeleigh, Stewkley for Stewkleigh, Cholmeley for Cholmeleigh, Chorley or Chorleigh and Rawley or Rawleigh, But which is a greater alteracion then yet came to this Sirname of Mildemay Scrope was aunciently written Scroube, Cecill Cisell and Sitsilte, Dawtrye Daltripe, Davenporte Damporte, Harrington Haverington, Lile Lisley, Lassells Laterells, Peyton Peton, and Turvile Turberuile, And of my certayne knowledge and experience had in my visitacions dyvers yeeres heertofore, there be none of this Sirname of Mildemay Mildmey Mildmay or Mildemey in England, but on this syde trente where beinge a very rare name I fynd them only in Essex, North' and Glouc' & these be all extracted of one family, and be of one self and Same Sirname in pronunciacion & speache. And therfore with their orderley differences may laufully beare (as their auncestors did beare) Argent 3 lions Rampinge asure, As more playnly is specifyed in the restitution of Armes made to S^r^ Walter Mildemay & to S^r^ Thomas Mildemay his nephewe this yeare of our Lord God 1583.

He was Colonel of a regiment in the Parliamentary army at the memorable siege of Colchester; and appears to have taken an active part against the King during the civil war. Besides the children mentioned in the Visitation, he had by Dorothy his wife, Carew Hervey, baptized at Romford 14 July 1629 and buried there 27 February 1632—William, bapt. 18 September 1634 at Romford; buried there 16 April 1638—Thomas, bapt. 6 December 1635 at Romford; buried there April 20 1639—and Gerard, baptized at Romford September 26 1637 and buried there March 28 1642. Francis Hervey Mildmay married secondly Mathew, only child and heir of Matthew Honeywood Esq., and had by her a very large family. He was buried at Romford December 7 1703. His widow died at the age of 78 in 1717, and was buried at Romford. Francis Mildmay was succeeded by Carew Hervey Mildmay, his eldest son—born 1658, died 1743—whose son Carew Hervey Mildmay—born 1691, died 1784—was the last heir male of the Essex Mildmays. Jane Mildmay, great-niece and eventual heir of the last Carew Hervey Mildmay, married Sir Henry S^t^ John of Dogmersfield Park Co. Hants, who assumed the name and arms of Mildmay by Royal Licence in December 1790. Marks—so long the seat of the family—was pulled down in 1808. (Several views of it remain.) The estate was sold to the Crown in 1854. Lady Mildmay—the last of that name—died in May 1857, aged 93.

‡‡ Alive in 1701.

§§ Died October 20, and buried October 22 1664, in the vault at Romford.

FAMILY OF BUTCHER.—In a standard biographical work on the officers of the British navy, it is stated that Rear-Admiral Butcher was of mean extraction. This is not true. His direct ancestor, Robert Butcher, was lord of the manor of Ravensden, in co. Bedford, and High Sheriff of that county in 1761. He bore arms, vert an elephant argent. Crest, a branch of a cotton-tree. Motto, "Be steady." His only son was Samuel, who married a Miss Atkinson, of Bengal. The issue of this marriage was, I presume, the Admiral, who married Elizabeth Herbert, and was the father of the present learned and pious Samuel Butcher, Lord Bishop of Meath. Robert Butcher of Ravensden was also of Ickleford, in Herts. Perhaps some of your English correspondents would give some further information about the family, and oblige, yours, etc., Q.

DAVIES AND HEFFERNAN.—Lieut.-Colonel George Lenox Davies, C.B., 9th Regiment, Superintendent Liverpool Recruiting District, fought in the Peninsula, Afghanistan, Sobraon; died at Galway, 1852. A tablet to his memory erected in St. Nicholas' Church by his brother officers, on it a crest; over an antique regal crown, surmounted by plumes, a "Pelican in her piety." No colours given. What were his arms and motto, and what the colours of the crest?

Sarah Davies, born 1708, at Fahy, co. Galway, married James Heffernan, of Glenamaddy, said county. What was his mother's family name? What was his father's Christian name? Were the Heffernans originally from the co. Limerick and their residence Kilbreedy? FRANCIS ROBERT DAVIES.

Hawthorn, Black Rock, co. Dublin.

NEWMAN.—Was there a grant of arms to a Newman belonging to Fotheringhay, Oundle, Castor, Tansor, Folkesworth, or any other place in the immediate neighbourhood of Peterborough about the year 1567?

Gaius Newman (son of Gabriel Newman, of London, son of Thomas Newman, of Norfolk) married Anne, daughter of Nicholas Cullum, of London,—had issue seven sons and five daughters, Gabriel, Gaius, Robert, Nicholas, Francis, Thomas, and Hugh, Elizabeth, Mary, Anne, Jane, and Judith, as per monument at St. Matthew's, Friday Street, in the north wall of the chancel. Born 1547, died 1613. What was the occasion of a grant of arms and crest to him on 12th November, 1610?

Sir George Newman, LL.D., of Kent, born in 1562, died 1627. There is a monument to his memory in St. Margaret's Church, Canterbury. How came he with a grant of arms in 1611, for services? What is the motto, and how does the connection with the family of Sir Edward Leeds, Croxton Park, co. Cambridge, arise?

Mrs. Mary Newman, daughter of Edward Newman, of Folkesworth, married to Sir John Conyers, Bart., end of 1675 or beginning of 1676. What is the precise date of the marriage?

Any information of this family of Newman would be very acceptable. F. N.

CROMWELL FAMILY AND CORNISH ARMS.—In the beautiful pedigree of the Cromwells given in Camden's Visitation of Hunts, 1613, Sir Henry Cromwell, of Hinchingbrooke (ob. 24 January, 1603), is said to have married Joanna, daughter of Sir Ralph Warren, Knt., Alderman of London, and of Joanna, his wife, daughter and heir of John Trelake, of Cornwall, alias Davy, of London. A shield is introduced by this match, the four quarterings of which I should like to assign to their respective owners:—1, or a chevron engrailed between three griffins' heads erased sable; 2, or a bend ermine between six annulets sable; 3, gules a fess argent charged with three billets gules between three martlets—two and one—argent; 4, argent a chevron engrailed gules between three martlets sable, a mullet for difference. The last are the arms of Croker, but how was that family connected with Warren or Trelake? C. J. R.

LASCELLES.—Of which branch of the Lascelles family was John Lascells, an attorney at Horncastle? In 1713 he was elected one of the Governors of the Grammar School, and died in 1724. His widow, Susannah, gave a very handsome chandelier to the church, and two silver flagons. George Lascells, his son, was patron of the living of Fulletley, in this county. In the pedigree of Rythers given in Whittaker's edition of 'Thoresby's Leeds,' it is stated that Susannah, seventh daughter of Robert Rythers, of Belton, Esq., baptized in 1668 and sole executrix of her father's will in 1693, married "— Lascells, of Crowle, co. Lincoln." This, I conclude, is the John Lascells, of Horncastle. Who were his parents?

Thimbleby. R. E. H.

FAMILY OF FULLER OF KERRY.—In a note at foot of pedigree, vol. ii. p. 130, it states that Catherine Fuller, sister of William, Bishop of Limerick, married William Bligh, ancestor of the Earls of Darnley: his name was John, not William (see 'Burke's Peerage'). The following is an abstract of the will of Thomas Fuller, who married Lucy and not Mary Cannon. This will was proved August 23, 1623, and was dated the 15th of same month: "To my daughters Elizabeth and Katherine, to my sonnes Edward and Thomas, to my brother (in law) Edward Cooke, to the Cordwainers' Company, to my father (in law) M^{r} Simon Cannon, and to my brother (in law) Edward Cannon" certain sums of money; the "residue of my goods &c. &c. to my deere wife Lucie and my son William, whom I make executors of this my last will and testament." Overseers of said will, John Waterhouse and Abrahame Dunne.

Dr. Thomas Fuller, present Archdeacon of Toronto, mentioned also in note, vol. ii. p. 130, is of the Bandon branch of our family.—His father was Thomas Richard Fuller, who died (being then Brevet-Major in the 41st regiment) in Canada; and his mother was Mary England, daughter of Captain England, of the 59th regiment, and first cousin of Sir Richard England, K.C.B. The Archdeacon married, in 1835, Cynthia, daughter of Samuel Street, Esq., of Niagara, and has issue a numerous family, of whom two sons are married, and two daughters,—Margaret to Rev. D. F. M'Leod, and Elizabeth to J. M'Murray, Esq., of Toronto, barrister-at-law. The Archdeacon was ordained in 1833.

It is stated by William Fuller, the Jacobite impostor, that he derives from Dr. Thomas Fuller (author of the 'Church History,' etc. etc.) through Robert, his son; but there is no evidence to support this statement, nor does the name Robert occur in any of the documents or pedigrees of this branch of the family. All the published lives and memoirs of Dr. Fuller give him but two sons,—John, by his first wife (whose name has never been discovered), and Thomas, by his second wife, the Hon. Mary Roper, from whom derives

JAMES FRANKLIN FULLER.

MOSLEY OF THE HOUGHE, Co. LANC.—Anne Mosley, of the Houghe, in the county of Lancaster, widow, late wife of Rowland Mosley, late of the Houghe, Esquire, by deed, dated 20 September, 1619, grants to her brother-in-law, Humfray Davenporte, of Sutton, co. Chester, in consideration of the sum of £100, all those closes and parcels of land in Sutton, late or heretofore in the tenures of John Brodhurst of the Mylne, and of

Wm. Brodhurst, his son, both deceased. On the fold of the deed is the signature of Anne Mosley; the seal used by her is also appended. It bears the double-queued lion or, her own family coat, she being one of the daughters and coheirs of Sutton.

The Mosley pedigree occurs in St. George's Visitation of Lancashire, 1613.

SHEERS FAMILY.—One of the Sheers family was created Baronet by King Charles II., October 16, 1684. The title, however, became extinct before 1727. The family seat was at Slyfield House, Surrey.

EVERSHED.—I shall be grateful for any notices of Eversheds, either of present or past times. The first record hitherto met with is of William de Evereshevd, in Wodetone, Okklee, Surrey (see No. 1004 Additional Charters, British Museum). The family resided for many generations in Ockley, becoming extinct (?) in that line in 1721. They appear in the adjoining parish of Warnham, in Sussex, before 1600, and the existing families, I suppose, have all descended from the Warnham Eversheds; this, however, is disputed by some branches of the family.

SAMUEL EVERSHED.

Eastbourne, Sussex.

RAINSBOROUGH, OR RAINBOROWE.—Thomas Rainborowe, a Lieut.-Colonel in the Parliamentary army, was killed at Doncaster, October, 1648. His wife's Christian name was Margaret. They had a son William, and other issue. I am anxious to know who Margaret Rainborowe was, what children he had, and who they married, if they arrived at maturity.

EDWARD PEACOCK.

FAMILY OF MILBORNE OF HEREFORDSHIRE.—In the Harleian MS. 6596, folio 72, is the following curious statement:—

"The Milbornes came out of Lincolnshire. King Edward V. and Sir Piers Milborne descended of two sisters. The Milbornes came of one Isett, and Sir Piers was one of Lord Beauchamp's heirs and Chancellor to the King of England, which Sir Piers married the d. and h. of Sir John Alesford, or Ausanne, K[t], Lord of Tillington, in the parish of Burghill, co. Hereford. The said Sir John received the King into his house, and kept him certain days at his own cost and charges. Sir Piers had a son of the aforesaid daughter, which hight Sir John Milborne. He married the d. of Sir Walter Devereux, of Weobley; This doth appeare on a faire tombe in the parish church of Burghill in this inscription. 'Here lieth the bodies of Sir John Milborne and Elizabeth, his wife, daughter of the most honorable knight of England, Sir Walter Devereux, who was slain at the great battle of Pilleth.'

"Of the said Sir John and Elizabeth came Sir Simon Milborne. Sir John Baskerville, Lord of Erdesley, and Sir Ralph Baskerville are brothers: the mother of them was the daughter of the Lord Audeleigh [note in the margin, "not soe in the pedigree of the Baskervilles"], whose mother was one of the daughters of the Earl of Arundel. Ralph married the d. & h. of Sir John Blackett, in Cotswold, at a place called Icombe, whose d. & h. Jane, Simon Milborne married, and one son and 13 daughters. The son and 2 daughters died without issue. Simon Milborne knowing the goodness of his title and pedigree, went to law with King Henry VIII. and recovered an advowson of £50, and against the king,—the king to give it on one vacancy, and Sir Simon on another. Sir Edward Milborne inherited the lands of Sir John Alesford, Sir John Oldcastle, and Sir John Blackett, Knights."

The above paper has already been the subject of a brief inquiry in 'Notes and Queries,' but has received no elucidation. As the thirteen coheiresses all married into good Herefordshire families (two single ones excepted), it might be interesting to verify, if possible, some of the above remarkable statements.

Can any of your readers elucidate the connection with Edward V.,—the heirship of Lord Beauchamp,—which of the Kings of England Sir John Alesford entertained,—and when and where is any account to be found of the Lincolnshire ancestors of the Milbornes?

W. G. B.

MILBORNE OF HEREFORDSHIRE.—On the evidence of Harl. MS. 1995, fo. 165, it would appear that this family is descended, by a female, from the Berkeleys of Dursley. The pedigree is as follows:—

Sir John Blackett, Knight. = Margaret, d. of Sir John Berkeley, Knight.

Margaret d. & h. = Ralph Baskerville, of Erdesley, Kt.

Jane, d. & sole heir of Ralph. = Sir Simon Milborne, Kt.

The above receives a degree of confirmation from the following inq. p. mortem of 8 Henry V.:—"Margaret quæ fuit uxor Johannis Blackett, Chevalier." Then, after enumerating four separate manors and messuages in Somersetshire, the inquisition adds, "Dodemarton or Dedmarton Maner' ut de honore Glocester."

From Rudder's 'History of Gloucester,' "Doddington Manor," it appears, was held by Robert de Berkeley and his descendants of the honour of Gloucester, according to the records of 47 H. III., 21 Ed. III., and 4 Henry IV. It was held by William de Berkeley, 5 Ed. III.; by John de Berkeley, 19 & 22 Ed. III.; by Sir Nicholas Berkeley, his son, together with one messuage and two yard lands, 6 Rich. II.; Maud, widow of Robert de Cantelupe and daughter and surviving heir of Sir John Berkeley, was served of this manor, 4 Henry IV.; as was Margaret, the widow of Sir John Blackett, 8 Henry V.

Perhaps some of your readers may be acquainted with some other evidences which might confirm, what appears to be probable, that Margaret was daughter and coheiress of Sir John Berkeley and sister of Maud.

GORGE AND NEWTON FAMILIES (vol. i. p. 78).—Sir Thomas Newton married Margaret Gorge, daughter of Sir Edmond Gorge, of Wraxhall, Somerset. Sir John Newton married Margaret Pointz. Sir Henry Newton married Catherine Paston. Sir Theodore Newton married Penelope Rodney. This Sir Theodore was Lord of Bitten, in Gloucestershire, in 1608. The Newton family, 22 Ed. IV., became possessed of the manor of Bitten, in Gloucestershire.

"This Seventh Number contains the account of Canewdon, which Mr. Benton deals with in the same careful and painstaking way as with the other parishes over which he has passed. He is very exact in the description of estates, in general bringing the ownership of them down to the present time; and his observations on the land and its management are valuable, as being those of a practical man."

And for the better satisfaction of that King of Armes in whose province the County of Warwick doth belong, I do give full power and authority to John Fetherston of Packwood in the county of Warwick Esq^r^ to shew the Coat of Armes of my Family as it hath been anciently used, with such proper distinctions as the King of Armes or his im'ediate deputy shall think fit In testimony whereof I have sett to my hand and seal.

Laughton Family.—In the year 1858 there was placed in the south-west chapel of the parish church of St. Botolph, Boston, co. Lincoln, a large stained glass memorial-window (executed by Ballantyne, of Edinburgh, and designed by J. H. Thomas, the eminent sculptor and architect), erected, as an inscription at the base testifies,—

> "In grateful memory of John Laughton, who founded a school "in this borough for the education of the sons of poor freemen, A.D. "mdccvii. This window was contributed by freemen & freemen's "sons mdcccliiii. He is buried (as is supposed) within the walls of "this chapel."

I am desirous of further information than given in the preceding brief description of this John Laughton, as well as of his ancestors and descendants. So far as I have been able to make research, there is no Lincolnshire family of any importance of this name. It is possible he may have been a grandson of Charles Laughton (lineally descended from the elder branch of the Laughton family, which had been settled at Thropum, in par. of Laughton-en-le-Morthing, co. York, in and previously to time of Henry VIII.), of Howorth Grange, nr. Rotherham, co. York, Esq., and Rosamund, his wife, dau. of Anthony Hatfield, of Laughton-en-le-Morthing, Esq.; he died Sept. 12, 1686, having issue—John, of Howorth, his eldest son and heir, married April, 1685, to Dorcas, dau. of George Westby (grandson of George Westby, of Ravenfield, co. York, Esq., descended in a direct line from Ralph Westby, of Ravenfield, Esq., temp. Henry III.), of Gilthwaite, Esq., but (his only issue, John, having predeceased him) ob. s. p. 1687, æt. 34; and five other sons, Jonathan, William, Joseph (ob. 1672 and bur. at Rotherham), Joshua (whose eldest son, Charles, by Anne, his wife, ob. 1718, æt. 26, and bur. at Rotherham), and Benjamin; he also had a dau. Ruth, who ob. cæl. 1675. Most of his younger sons married and had issue; perhaps, therefore, that as at the death of their brother John all the paternal estates passed to the family of the Westbys of Gilthwaite, the brothers might have been scattered,—one perchance may have settled in the adjoining county of Lincoln and had a son, the John Laughton of whom I make inquiry (the name John had been perpetuated in the elder branch of the Laughtons for three generations), thus leading to the connection of the Laughton family with the town of Boston, and the accruing benefit of those freemen and freemen's sons who, having profited so greatly by the munificence of John Laughton, presented this testimonial of their well-merited gratitude to their mother-church.

Laughton impaling Westby of Gilthwaite.

While on the subject of the Laughton family I add two other queries. The first, for knowledge of the descendants of the last known male representative of the Laughtons of Thropum and Eastfield, Edmund Laughton, of Lindrick House, co. York, Esq. The latter, in reference to the descendants of the Rev. Mainwaring Laughton, of Lidington, co. Rutland, vicar of one of the churches in Stamford; he was twice married, and was a younger son of John Laughton (nat. 1689, ob. May, 1751), of Eastfield, Esq.

SODERINI FAMILY.—Niccolo Machiavelli, in his 'History of Florence' (so justly eulogized by Lord Macaulay in his 'Critical and Historical Essays'), frequently mentions members of that celebrated and ancient family which flourished so luxuriously during the palmy days of the Florentine Republic, the Soderini. He speaks in particular of—Niccolo Soderini, drawn as Gonfalonier of Justice for Florence, A.D. 1466; Tommaso Soderini, brother to Niccolo, who played a subordinate, but by no means an useless part during his brother's magistracy; and Pagolantonio Soderini, relative of Niccolo and Tommaso, deputed, A.D. 1486, by the Republic as their Ambassador on a most delicate mission to Venice, then in the full zenith of her lustre and magnitude.

Francis Soderini, Cardinal Bishop of Volterra, another member of the family, is often mentioned in "Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, Henry VIII., 1519-23."

I wish to know in what works, either Italian or otherwise, I can obtain the best detailed account of the genealogies and armorial bearings of the Soderini and other principal Italian families, such as the Medici, Cenci, Savelli, Colonna, Orsini, etc.?

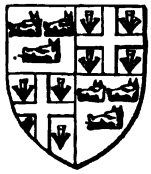
PHILLIPS OF WITSTON.—'Burke's Landed Gentry,' usually most voluminous in the genealogical department, gives but a very meagre description of the lineage of "Phillips of Witston," it only mentioning William Phillips, of Witston House, co. Monmouth, Esq., the present representative, who is a Magistrate and Deputy-Lieutenant for co. Monmouth, for which he served as High Sheriff in 1845, and his father, the late William Phillips, of Witston, Esq., J.P.



Phillips of Witston.

I am anxious to learn more fully the history of this family, which I have always understood had a good right to be placed in the annals of Cambrian genealogy. I may state that a Miss Phillips of Witston married, in the latter part of last century, a Mr. Charles Price, of the Legacy Office, Somerset House.

Arms of Phillips of Witston: Quarterly 1 and 4 gules three boars' heads or, 2 and 3 azure a cross between four pheons or. Crest: A boar's head sable, langued gules, ringed or. Motto: "Spero Meliora."

MACMANUS FAMILY.—I am wishful to ascertain further particulars than given in the following account of the "Macmanus" family, stated to be "of ancient Irish descent, and formerly to have possessed extensive property in the cos. Antrim, Fermanagh, and Londonderry, and the co. of the town of Carrickfergus"; but especially of the junior branch, settled for more than a century in the co. Fermanagh:—

GROVE OF WOODFORD, Co. ESSEX; GROVE OF FERNE, Co. WILTS.—Silvanus Grove, of Woodford, born 1710, died 1799, married, in 1766, Louisa, daughter (and eventual heiress) of Edward Hillersdon and of Louisa Sophia Charlotte, his wife, third daughter of Henry Harcourt (eldest son of Simon Harcourt, Clerk of the Crown, by Elizabeth, his wife, daughter and heiress of Sir Richard Anderson, Baronet, of Pendley) and of Sara Frances, his wife, daughter and heiress of Nathaniel Bard, by Persiana, his wife, daughter and heiress of Henry Bard, Viscount Bellamont.

Silvanus Grove bore, Ermine on a chevron gules three escallops or. Crest: A dog argent, collared or. Motto: Suivez la raison.

The Grove family of Ferne, co. Wilts, bears, Ermine on a chevron engrailed gules three escallops or. Crest: A talbot collared or. Motto: Ni dessous ni dessus.

Information is sought as to the ancestry of Silvanus Grove, and as to any connection between the two families of Grove. C. J. B.

LAWRENCE OF COLERAINE.—Is anything known to those interested in the Lawrence pedigrees of a family settled for many generations near Coleraine, whose arms are—Ermine a cross ragulé gules, on a chief of the second a lion of England? Is it known when this chief charged with a lion was first borne as an augmentation? It was borne (see Misc. Genealog. Vol. I. p. 202) by the Lorance family of St. Ives. Also, according to 'Burke's Extinct Baronetage,' by Sir John Lawrence, of Iver, Bucks, made a Baronet by Charles I., 1628, who, there, is made to descend from Sir Robert Lawrence and Margaret Holden of Lancashire, through the Prior's Court branch. Is there any evidence of any of that family settling in Ireland? Edmund Lawrence was summoned, 35 Ed. III. (1362), by the Sheriff of Nottingham to a council at Westminster, as one of the heirs of Camville, holding lands in Ireland: who was he? Was he Sir Robert's father? If 1454 was date of death of the latter? C. H. C.

ABBOT FAMILY.—William Abbot was Senior Wrangler and Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, 1754. Can any person throw any light upon his ancestry? Most probably a Suffolk man. Any particulars will much oblige. Also any information about John Abbot, Esq., of Suffolk, A.D. 1454, whose heiress married "Cotton of Landwade." Arms quartered in several churches in East Anglia. J. T. ABBOTT.

A true copy from the Register marked Norfolk V. fol. 181, 182, remaining in the College of Arms, London.

GEO. HARRISON,
Windsor Herald.

[1] Entered at the College of Arms in 1823, by Robert Westley Hall Dare, Esq.

[2] Married at Romford, June 11 (not July 11, as stated in the notes to Visitation pedigree of Mildmay of Marks), 1590. The name of his daughter Frances, born in 1593 or 1594, does not appear in the pedigree. She married, in 1618, William Nutbrowne, gent., of Romford.

[3] By Frances, daughter and coheir of Sir Leonard Beckwith. Sir George Hervey died in the Tower, August 10, 1605, and was buried the next day at Romford. There are singular discrepancies in the several records of his burial. The parish register states that he was buried August 11: the inscription on his sumptuous monument at Romford informs us that he died August 10 and was buried September 4; while the Funeral Certificate at the College of Arms records his interment on the 5th of September. These conflicting dates may be reconciled thus:—Sir George Hervey died at the hottest season of the year, possibly of some pestilential disease, and it was doubtless thought necessary to remove the corpse at once and deposit it in the family vault at Romford. His obsequies were celebrated with heraldic honours in the night between the 4th and 5th of September, nearly a month after his death. It would seem that this simple explanation accounts satisfactorily for these curious variations of date.

[4] As stated in notes to Visitation pedigree, she was buried at Romford, February 21, 1605.

[5] Baptized at Romford, December 14 1592; buried there September 15, 1657. His line terminated, in 1771, with Sir William Mildmay, Bart., of Moulsham Hall.

[6] See notes to Visitation pedigree. It need only be repeated that he was born at Marks (then the seat of his grandfather), February 2, 1595; married at St. Giles in the Fields, September 25, 1626: buried at Romford, August 8, 1676. Letters of Administration were granted, in P. C. Canterbury, to his son Francis, August 18 following.

[7] Sir Gawen Hervey succeeded his father, Sir George Hervey, at Marks in 1605. On the death of his only surviving child, Mary Hervey, in 1622, he made his nephew Carew Mildmay his heir. Sir Gawen Hervey was buried at Romford, February 22, 162$.

[8] Buried at Romford, May 16, 1667.

[9] Buried at Romford from Marks, May 9, 1712, aged 80, unmarried. It is stated in the register that she was deaf and dumb. The entry was accidentally omitted in the Mildmay Registers from Romford, printed in 'Miscellanea Genealogica,' Vol. I. pp. 275, 277.

[10] Died 20th and buried October 22, 1664, at Romford.

[11] See also notes to Visitation pedigree. He was baptized at Romford, October 28, 1630; and buried there December 7, 1703.

[12] She was great-granddaughter of the celebrated Mrs. Mary Honywood. Married September 14, 1656.

[13] Baptized at Romford, November 23, 1658; buried there May 1, 1743. The statement that he died May 1 is probably incorrect. He was the last member of the Mildmay family buried in the vault at Romford.

[14] Buried January 18, 1718, at Romford.

[15] Baptized at Romford, December 23, 1662: died October 23, of small pox, buried October 26, 1679, at St. Mary Aldermary, London.

[16] Baptized at Romford, January 22, 1683.

[17] Buried in the Vicars Chancel at Dagenham, February 22, 17$\frac{2}{2}$?.

[18] Also buried in the Vicar's Chancel. George Mildmay, son of George and Rebecca Mildmay, was buried at Dagenham, December 11, 1725; and Rebecca Mildmay, their daughter, was buried there October 26, 1733.

[19] Baptized at Romford, September 25, 1671.

[20] Peter Honywood was of West Hawkes, in the parish of Kingsworth, co. Kent. Ob. 1685.

[21] Vicar of Twyford: died in 1745; buried at Twyford.

[22] Baptized at Romford, May 5, 1673; born same day.

[23] Dorothy Mildmay was baptized at Romford, March 3, 1664. She married first, Robert Northfolke, Esq., of Stewards in Romford, son and heir of Sir James Northfolke of Romford. They were married at Havering Chapel (near Romford), November 7, 1682: Robert, their son, was baptized at Romford, July 19, 1687, and buried there August 25 following. Mr. Northfolke was buried at Romford from Stewards, January 19, 1688. (The house in which Robert Northfolke lived is now called Romford Hall: the smaller house near it, called Stewards, has no pretensions to the name.) Dorothy, a posthumous child, was baptized at Romford, August 8, 1688, and buried there December 15 following. Mr. Richard Blower—second husband of Dorothy Mildmay—was of Woodnorton, co. Norfolk. They were married before 1701. Mary, their only surviving child, married Christopher Higgins, Esq., of Loynton Hall, co. Stafford, of an ancient family now represented by Sambrooke T. Higgins Burne, Esq., of Loynton Hall, and Summer Hill House, co. Salop.

[24] Baptized at Romford, March 5, 1668: married there April 7, 1687; John Eldred was then of Newington, in Surrey.

[25] Philadelphia Mildmay was baptized at Romford, April 21, 1669: married there August 6, 1713, the Rev. Arthur Heron, Rector of Morton, co. Essex. He was instituted to Morton in 1698: ob. 1733.

[26] Baptized May 19, 1670, at Romford: married at Little Ilford, co. Essex, from Marks, December 17, 1706, the Rev. Dr. John Searle, Rector of Willingale and Vicar of North Weald, co. Essex. A son, John, was baptized at Romford in October, 1707. Mrs. Searle was buried at Romford, December 7, 1718; then a widow.

[27] Baptized at Romford, December 8, 1676.

[28] Baptized at Romford, June 17, 1678: married there November 27, 1705, Mr. John Wood of Cornhill. Besides the children named in the pedigree, Francis and Mathew Mildmay had Priscilla, baptized March 17 and buried March 20, 1674, at Romford, and Henry, also an infant, buried there November 4, 1680.

[29] Baptized as Humphrey Hervey Mildmay, at Romford, April 6, 1692; married (aged only fourteen) at Twyford, August 20, 1706. There is a tradition that the family having determined on the marriage of Letitia, heiress of Holiday Mildmay, with one of her cousins, Carew or Humphrey, they were brought to her while yet a child to choose one of them; the one whom they wished her to choose—Humphrey—being dressed in very fine clothes, and that she accordingly chose him. It is also stated that one or both were sent to school after the marriage. Their first child was not born for upwards of six years.

[30] Holyday or Halliday Mildmay was son and heir of Henry Mildmay, of Shawford House, in the parish of Twyford, near Winchester, who was second son of Sir Henry Mildmay, of Wanstead and Stoke Newington, (his fine Jacobean mansion is still standing on Newington Green), Master of the Jewel-house,—see Visitation pedigrees, Mildmay of Danbury, page 197. Mr. Holyday Mildmay died v. p., and was buried at Twyford, November 21, 1696: Ann, his widow, was buried there August 20, 1698. Letitia, their daughter and sole heir (wife of Humphrey Mildmay), was buried at Twyford, October 29, 1749. The Twyford estate was purchased for Dame Anne Mildmay (ob. 1657), wife of Sir Henry Mildmay, of Wanstead, by the trustees of her father, Alderman Halliday of Newington Green.

[31] Richard Mildmay was baptized at Romford, May 21 or 27, 1693.

[32] Sic in orig. It would appear that there is some confusion of dates here.

[33] Baptized at Romford, March 17, 1696; married at Havering Chapel, March 6, 172½: her husband is described as a merchant of London, and a widower. Thomas Saville was buried at St. Lawrence Jewry, October 8, 1757: Anne, his widow, January 24, 1769. Dorothy Mildmay, daughter of Carew and Anne Mildmay, baptized at Romford, February 11, 1690, and buried there January 14, 1691, is not mentioned in the pedigree.

[34] Baptized at Romford, March 6, 169⅝; died at the great age of 94; buried in Sherborne Church, January 26 following his death. The sumptuous monument erected over his grave was moved into the vestry-room in the course of the recent restoration of Sherborne Church. The estate of Haslegrove, or Hazel Grove, in the parish of Queen Camel, co. Somerset, was bequeathed in 1690 by Humphrey Mildmay, Esq., of Haslegrove (second son of Sir Humphrey Mildmay, of Danbury,—see Visitation pedigree, page 197), to his cousin Carew Hervey Mildmay, of Marks, who settled it on his eldest son, Carew Hervey Mildmay, who died, as above stated, in 1784—the last surviving male descendant of the Mildmay family. It is scarcely requisite to call attention to the rapid and remarkable extinction of the original family of Mildmay in all its branches. In the reign of James I., no less than nine families of the name (all springing from one stock) flourished in the county of Essex; not to mention the important branches seated at Apethorpe, Pishobury, Heston, etc. Yet, in the course of a century and a half, the last surviving male representative of the family died. Those who are believers in Spelman's theory, may remember that the great house of Mildmay was mainly built upon Church property, and will discern in its later history, material for another chapter of the History of Sacrilege. More sceptical minds may find a better reason for its extinction in the numerous intermarriages of the family.

[35] Married at Sherborne January 6, 1718; died January 23 and buried January 26, 174¾, in Sherborne Church.

[36] Third daughter of Sir Edward Phelips; born in March, 1694; married May 17, 1744: buried at Queen Camel.

[37] Baptized at Sherborne December 8, 1726; died April 10 and buried at Sherborne April 24, 1789.

[38] 1, Carew, born May 8, 1720; baptized May 24, at Sherborne; died August 19 and buried August 22, 1720, in Sherborne Church. 2, Francis, baptized February 3, 1721, at Sherborne; buried there February 7 following. 3, Eastmont, died January 19 and buried next day at Sherborne. 4, Gawen, born and baptized August 27, 1724, at Sherborne; died March 27, 1725, buried March 30 following, at Sherborne.

[39] Henry Eaton was baptized at Rainham, May 26, 1706; he died at Rainham Lodge, and was buried in Rainham Church, October 4, 1792. Francis Eaton, his father, was married at Romford, May 6, 1695, and was buried at Dagenham, January 17, 173¾. Anne (wife to Francis Eaton) was baptized at Romford, March 27, 1677, and buried at Dagenham, June 6, 1747. Thomas Freckleton was of Brakes Place, near Hare Street (in parish of Romford and Hornchurch): he died February 18, 172¾, aged 87, and was buried at Romford. Henry Eaton had by Elizabeth Mildmay,—1, Elizabeth, died an infant, August 28, 1743, buried at Rainham. 2, Henry Mildmay Eaton, baptized at Rainham, April 15, 1745; died June 2, 1793 (unmarried), buried at Rainham. 3, Elizabeth, born June 17, baptized at Rainham, June 21, 1749; married at Dagenham, June 28, 1779, to John Dare, Esq., of Bentry Heath in Dagenham, who died in 1781: she married secondly, John Marmaduke Grafton, Esq., afterwards Dare, of Romford: had issue by both husbands, and died in March, 1823; buried at Theydon Bois, co. Essex. Her only surviving child, Elizabeth Grafton Dare, married Robert Westley Hall, Esq., who took the name of Dare, and recorded the above pedigree in connection with the pedigree of Hall Dare. Anne, youngest daughter of Henry Eaton, born July 12, 1759; married Paul Pell, Esq., of Tupholme Hall, co. Linc.; died January 14, 1784, buried at Rainham.

[40] Died at Romford, July 27, 1799, aged 78; buried in Rainham Church, August 5 following.

[41] Baptized at Twyford, November 10, 1712.
[42] Baptized at Twyford, November 4, 1717; buried there July 6, 1768.
[43] This is an error; she was buried at Twyford, May 9, 1799.
[44] William Mildmay was fifth in descent from William Mildmay, of Springfield Barnes, and Margaret Hervey (see above), through Sir Thomas Mildmay, their eldest son. He succeeded to Moulsham Hall and other family estates in 1756, under the will of his kinsman Benjamin Mildmay, Earl Fitzwalter, who died in that year childless. He was created a Baronet in 1765, but died s. p. August 8, 1771, when this line also became extinct. Sir William Mildmay was buried August 17, 1771; and Dame Anne, his widow, January 5, 1796—both at Chelmsford.

* This is the first Fanshawe will proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury. The merely legal and less important passages of this and many of the following wills are given in abstract, within brackets. The wills so treated are invariably termed 'abstracts.'

† The first wife of Henry Fanshawe the Remembrancer, and daughter of William Hopkins, of Carswell, near Clay Hall, in the parish of Barking. She is not mentioned in the Funeral Certificate of Henry Fanshawe (Vol. I. p. 314), but such omissions are not uncommon. The Hopkins pedigrees at the College of Arms, and the wills of the Hopkins family proved about this time in P. C. C., have been carefully examined, but nothing has been found to connect William Hopkins with any of the more important families of that name; and there is reason to believe that he was nothing more than a simple husbandman, or, at most, a yeoman. The match does not appear in the Fanshawe pedigree, or in any other family memorial, and was apparently forgotten until the publication of these Notes. It should, however, be stated that the persons mentioned by Mrs. Fanshawe as her cousins were people of substance.

‡ These lands immediately adjoined the estate of Henry Fanshawe, her husband.

§ She was the second wife of Robert Lawson, alias Edmonds, of Prittlewell Priory, co. Essex, and daughter of Nicholas Cely, gent. He appears to have been Steward to Lord Rich, and was lessee of the manor of Prittlewell Priory under his Lordship. He died Febr. 7, 158½, aged 72, and was buried in Prittlewell Church. The Latin inscription on his tomb (no longer extant) described him as of the ancient family of the Lawsons of the north.

† Valence is situate in the parishes of Barking and Dagenham, within a short distance of Jenkins and Parsloes, the other seats of the Fanshawe family in this neighbourhood. The old moated house of Valence still stands, and presents much the same appearance as in the days of Henry Fanshawe. In 1594 it was the residence of Mr. Timothy Lucy (brother to Justice Shallow), who married Susanna, youngest daughter of Henry Fanshawe. Valence was held on renewable lease from the Dean and Canons of Windsor, and it is still church property.

‡ Not the estate of Bedfords near Romford, but lands so called at Ripple Side, Barking.

§ Held of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, at the yearly rent of £4: see a curious description of it in the draft will of 1566.

‖ Clay Hall is situate in the northern part of the parish of Barking, not far from Woodford, and quite away from Valence and the other estates of the Fanshawe family at Barking. It belonged at this time to Sir George Colt of Long Melford, of whom Henry Fanshawe held it on lease. The house in which Henry Fanshawe lived is roughly sketched on the map of Barking manor made in 1653,—a large gabled house. In a MS. account of the principal houses near Barking, written by Mr. Smart Lethieullier about 120 years ago, Clay Hall is described as "a Noble Seat finely Situated, & commanding a pleasant prospect. No Less than 30 Rooms were Standing within a few years past, but It is Now Entirely pull'd down, & A Small farm House built in its Stead." It is, however, probable that Clay Hall had been rebuilt about a century before the date of this MS., by Sir Thomas Cambell. In the Royal Survey of the manor of Barking made 1617, the older house is described as "one fair Capitall Messuage called Clayhall, with fair gardens, Orchards, Walks, Court yards and houses of Office thereunto belonging."

* A grammar school was accordingly founded at Dronfield, which still flourishes. On a panel in the chancel of Dronfield Church (high up) is the following inscription relating to Henry Fanshawe's benefaction:—[1569] "Henry Fanshaw Esq^r^, Remembrancer of the Court of Exchequer, left y^e^ yearly rents of several parcells of land in Dronfield, Chesterfield, and Eckington, for the Erecting of a Free Grammar School in Dronfield afores'd, and for y^e^ maintaining of a Master and usher there for ever." The patronage of the school is still in the Fanshawe family.

† Thomas Fanshawe, his nephew, afterwards of Ware Park and Jenkins, ob. 1600.

‡ It has been already stated in the notes to the Funeral Certificate of Henry Fanshawe, and to the Pedigree and Registers, that Anne Fanshawe died unmarried in 1584, and that Susanna Fanshawe married Mr. Timothy Lucy. Long after this time a free school was founded at Barking by Sir James Cambell of Clay Hall.

§ Of Hockleys at the Watering, now called Redbridge Farm, near Clay Hall, ob. 1586. His will—the original—remains among the Fanshawe papers at the Record Office.

 Daughter of his brother John Fanshawe, of Fanshawe Gate; married, in August, 1575, Mr. Edward Eliott.

†† A Portuguese coin of gold, value £3. 12*s.*: a common legacy in wills about this time.

‡‡ Sic in Reg., but this is probably the attestation of Thomas Fanshawe, his nephew. In that case the will was sealed only. See his signature to draft will, below.

* In the curious MS. collection called the Fanshawe Papers, at the Public Record Office (Miscell. Queen's Rem. Excheq.) are included two draft-wills of Henry Fanshawe; one made in the lifetime of his first wife; the other soon after his second marriage. They are both interesting documents, and it has been thought desirable that they should be printed with the proved will. The first draft is short, and is given in extenso; the second, though imperfect at the end, is long, and an abstract has therefore been made of it, the more interesting passages being given in full. The notes previously given may serve to explain the more obscure points in these wills, and it only seems necessary to add that Carswell (a life-interest in which Henry Fanshawe gave his father-in-law Hopkins) was situate near Clay Hall; Luckwell, Sparkswood, Hainault, Tramwell Poole, Hellows, etc., were also near Clay Hall; Dovehouse Croft, Blackhouse, the lands curiously called Cuckolds' Haven, Fulks, and others mentioned, are in or near the town of Barking; the manor of Wolves is in Tendring Hundred; Brownswood was near Highbury, in the parish of Islington. The bulting-house in the family house in Warwick Lane was the bolting-house, or place where the meal was sifted; the hotthouse was probably a forcing-house in the garden. Henry Fanshawe had lived in Bread Street before moving into Warwick Lane. Among the Fanshawe Papers in P. R. O. are several letters of a business nature, addressed to him in Bread Street.

* Eldest daughter and coheiress of Henry Fanshawe, Esq., Remembrancer of the Exchequer, by Dorothy Stonard, his second wife. She was six years old at the death of her father in 1568, and must therefore have died at the early age of 22. She was buried with her father at Barking, April 7, 1584. The erroneous statement that she was married to William Fuller has been considered elsewhere. It is curious that the first person mentioned in her will should have been a Mrs. Elizabeth Fuller. Anne Fanshawe was of the parish of Christchurch, Newgate Street, and probably lived at the family house in Warwick Lane.

† Thomas Fanshawe, of Jenkins and Ware Park. Henry and Walter, mentioned previously, were sons of Thomas Fanshawe.

‡ The silver tags or other metal sheathings of the points or ribbons used in the dress both of ladies and gentlemen, from the time of Henry VIII. until far in the seventeenth century.

§ Probably a pair of peaked cuffs, edged with pearls or precious stones. A pair of borders may also mean the upper and nether ornaments or jewels for the neck and bosom, called Abillements, set with diamonds, pearls, or rubies, and much worn in the higher ranks about this time.

‖ Son of Thomas Fanshawe, of Jenkins and Ware Park: afterwards of Parsloes. At this time he was a child.

 No executor being named in the will, application was made in due course to the Ordinary, who issued letters of administration to the sister and brother-in-law of the defunct, May 14, 1584. Administration, with will annexed, was granted as above stated, June 3 following.

Will of Godfrey Fanshawe, a.d. 1584.*

In the name of god Amen. I Godfrey ffanshawe knowinge that by the passion of Jesus Christ my soule is redeemed from originall synnes and shal be saved, and alsoe learninge by godes worde that I shoulde truelye distribute such talents as he hath given me to vse—I hartelie beseche his divine Maiestie to parden me of all wilfullnes, negligens and ignorances, and by his almightie goodnes guide and keepe my soule with his holye sperite to his honor and glorye, receyvinge to his mercy a lost sheepe. And for all such worldlie goodes as his divine maiestie hathe committed to my government, I will and my full minde is they shall (after my funerall discharged) to be soulde, as well landes as alsoe leases, goodes, chattels & howshold stuff, To thend and purpose that all and every parsonn and parsonns whatsoever I ame indebted vnto shal be satisfied according to the debte I doe owe them in truthe, and recompence w^th^ reason all parsonns that can iustlye prove I have done iniurye vnto. The residue of all the premisses to be distributed, disposed and bestowed at the discretion and will of Thomas ffanshawe Esquier my brother,†

* Son of John Fanshawe, of Fanshawe Gate, and younger brother of Thomas Fanshawe the Remembrancer. He was master of Ilford Hospital, and lived in the Master's house there. Godfrey Fanshawe married Grace, daughter of — Pagett, widow of Mr. Robert Robotham, of Raskill, co. York, and Warwick Inn, London, who survived him. Among the Fanshawe Papers at P. R. O. are several receipts from Mrs. Grace Fanshawe for a quarterly annuity of 40^s^/ (settled upon her by Godfrey Fanshawe), dated at St. Albans, where she was living with her son John Robotham. Godfrey Fanshawe died, s. p., in the parish of St. Bartholomew the Less, Smithfield, February 12, and was buried in Christchurch, Newgate Street, February 15, 158$\frac{4}{5}$. It is stated in Harl. M.S. 1541 that he married — Waldegrave; and that there was a tomb with the arms of Fanshawe, properly differenced, impaling Waldegrave, in Ilford Chapel. Mr. William Waldegrave was Steward of the manor of Barking at this time, and lived at Little Ilford, but no evidence has been found that any of his numerous daughters married Godfrey Fanshawe, nor is the match mentioned in the Waldegrave pedigree. The statement in a modern pedigree of the Fanshawes, that Godfrey F. married Anne, daughter of John Waldegrave, of Burley, co. Essex, is unsupported by proof. The following inscription in brass, on the north wall of the chancel of Ilford Chapel, is recorded on a Fanshawe pedigree of ancient date in the possession of the Rev. Charles Fanshawe, Vicar of Upham, co. Hants; and would seem to be the monument or brass mentioned in Harl. MS. 1541. It no longer exists, and has indeed disappeared for at least a hundred years.

† Of Ware Park and Jenkins. A large quantity of papers relating to Godfrey Fanshawe are preserved among Thomas Fanshawe's papers at the Record Office, (already referred to). Among them are receipts for rent, shoemakers' bills, inventories of goods sold, etc. etc. Also the parish clerk's bill for Godfrey Fanshawe's burial in Christchurch, and the tailor's bill for a mourning gown on the occasion for Thomas Fanshawe. These, being short, may be given.

† Near Barking, in Essex; for about a hundred and fifty years a principal seat of the Fanshawes. It appears on the old map of Barking manor (1653) as a large square house, with a tower or turret at the north and south corners; surrounded with stately gardens, and approached from Barking by a long avenue of trees. In the MS. account of ancient houses near Ilford and Barking already quoted, Jenkins is described as "A very Large Old Timber House, Moated round, wth Gardens, &c." This description would seem to apply to the Fanshawe house, and not to the formal red brick mansion of Queen Anne's time which succeeded it, and which was standing at the time the MS. was written. For many years it has been called simply 'the Manor,' and the name of Jenkins is quite forgotten in the neighbourhood.

* The manor house of Fulks stands in Barking town, much modernised. It was long used as the vicarage, and is now called Northbury House.

† Near Jenkins: the picturesque old farmhouse, dating back certainly as far as Thomas Fanshawe's time, was only pulled down a few years since.

John Seeres, then the occupier, died a few months after the date of this will, and his burial is thus recorded in the parish register:—"1596 John Seres of Westbury gent, buried 30th November." Lady Hatton mentioned there in so questionable a character, is not and could not have been identical with Alice Fanshawe, though she is described in the Legend as—

> "A Fanshawe by family—one of a house
> Well descended, but boasting less 'nobles' than nous."

And, again, in the diabolical bond which was redeemed in so fearful a manner, as—

> "One Alice Hatton, née Fanshawe—a name
> Which you'll recognise, reader, at once as the same
> With that borne by Sir Christopher's erudite dame!"

In point of fact, the Sir Christopher Hatton of Ingoldsby's ludicrous story—the famous dancing Chancellor and favourite of Queen Elizabeth—was never married; and Sir Christopher Hatton, husband of the much maligned Alice Fanshawe, was cousin and godson of the Lord Keeper. Alice Fanshawe was only ten years old at the time of Lord Keeper Hatton's death in 1591, and her husband was never Lord Keeper; nor does it appear that he held any important position at the Court of Elizabeth. He was made K.B. at the coronation of James I., and died in September, 1619, having succeeded, some years before, to the estate of Lord Chancellor Hatton, on the failure of the issue male in Sir William Hatton, nephew and heir of the Chancellor.

* By his mark only.

† Son of Robert Fanshawe of Fanshawe Gate, and nephew to Thomas Fanshawe of Ware Park and Jenkins: born 1568; Clerk to his uncle in the Remembrancer's Office; married in 1598, Mary, daughter of Mr. Ralph Wiseman of Rivenhall, and had by her Thomas, his heir—Henry—Ralph—John—George—Richard—Mary, the wife of Thomas Hardwick—Mildred, married in 1624 to Phineas Andrews—Isabel, married in 1628 to Edward Kippax—and John, posthumous. He died soon after making his will, and was probably buried at Rivenhall. The registers of that parish have been examined, but they only commence in 1634, and have no Fanshawe entries. The statement in the family and certified pedigrees, that John Fanshawe married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Thomas Wiseman, is disproved not only by his own will and that of his widow, but by his marriage-allegation in the Registry of the Bishop of London (ex inf. Col. Chester), and the Wiseman pedigree at the College of Arms. John Fanshawe's widow died at Stratford-le-Bow in 1641.

‡ In the parish of Stow Maries, co. Essex. John Fanshawe is described of Stow in the pedigree of his wife's family at the Herald's College (I 16, fo. 398).

* Eldest son and heir of Thomas Fanshawe, of Ware Park and Jenkins; born in 1569; married Elizabeth, sixth daughter of Thomas Smyth, Esq., of Ostenhanger; succeeded his father at Ware Park and as Remembrancer in 1600; knighted May 7, 1603; M.P. for Westbury and Boroughbridge; died March 10, 1616; buried at Ware. His character is finely drawn in Lady Fanshawe's Memoirs. The passage is perhaps too long to be inserted here, but an extract may be given. Addressing her son, she says:—"As your Grandfather inherited Ware Parke and his office, the flower "of his fathers estate, so did he of his wisdom and parts, and both were happy in y^e^ favour of the "Princes of that time, for Queen Elizabeth said y^t^ your Great grandfather" (i e Thomas Fanshawe, second Remembrancer, see above) "was the best officer of accounts she had, and a person of great "integrity, and your Grandfather was y^e^ Favourite of Prince Henry, and had y^e^ Prince lived to "be King, had been secretary of estate, as he would often tell him. M^r^ Camden speaks much in "y^e^ praise (as you may see) of S^r^ Henry Fanshawe's Garden of Ware Park, none excelling it in "flowers, phisike herbes and fruit, in which things he did greatly delight, also he was a great lover "of Musick and kept many Gentlemen that were perfectly well qualified both in y^t^ and y^e^ Italian "tongue, in which he spent some time. He likewise kept severall horses of manadge, and rid y^m^ "himself, which he delighted in, and y^e^ Prince would say none did it better; he had great honour "and generosity in his nature * * * His retinue was great, and that made him stretch his Estate, "which was neer if not full foure thousand pound a year, yet when he dyed he left no debt upon "his estate. He departed this life at ye age of forty eight years, and lyes buryed in ye chancell "in a vaulte with his father in ye Parish Church of Ware. He was as handsome and as fine a "Gentleman as England then had, a most excellent husband, father, friend, an servant to his "Prince." (Memoirs, original MS., p. 10, et seq.)

Henry Finch of Netherfeild Esquire succeeded William Finch his father in those landes: Hee marryed Alice, the only doughter and heire of Phillip Belknap of the Moate by Canterbury, vnckle to Sir Edward Belknap: This marryage not only brought the Successors of this man to inhabite in Kent, but made them allyed to many noble familyes: And in regard the sayd Phillip Belknap was a younger brother, and thereby dispossest of the euidences that serue to warrant the bearing of all those Coates that came in with Belknap: I haue inserted some faithfull transcripts and other obseruations out of the publique records of the Kingdome to that purpose.

And first for Belknap itselfe. I finde it a florishing family in the tyme of King Edward the third: for in the 43th yeere of the sayd kings raigne Sir Robert Belknap gaue landes to the Couent at Rochester, to pray for the soule of John Belknap his father. After being vnder the raigne of Richard the second, imployed into Ireland, he retourned, fell vnfortunately into the kinges displeasure, was attaynted in the XIth yeere of Richard the second, his landes at Kennington and many parishes thereby, giuen vnto William Ellis by Charter from the sayd King, in which name they contynued till our rememberance.

But he was restored and florished againe in the beginning of Kinge Henry the 4thes raigne, and left a sonne named John Belknap, whoe deceased in the 15th of Henry 6th, and was father of Sir Haman Belknap, Treasurer of Normandy, who marryed Joane, sister and one of the heires of Sr Raph Butler lord of Sudeley and wemme, proued by this record, vidt; Inquisitio capta, anno 14to Ed. 4th post mortem Rad'i Butler de Sudeley militis Juratores dicunt, qd pred' Rad'us Butler obiit seisitus in dominico suo vt de feodo de maneriis de Derset et Greene in com. Warr.; et q'd ius reuerc'onis pred' maneriorum post mortem pred' Rad'i descendit quibusdam Joh'ni Norbury militi, et Will'mo Belknap armigero Consanguineis et heredibus pred' Rad'i, vidt eidem Joh'ni filio Henrici Norbury militis filio Elizabethæ vnivs sororum et heredum pred' et eidem Will'mo filio Johannæ, vxoris Hamonis Belknap alterius sororum et hæredum eiusdem Rad'i. Eo q'd idem Rad'us obiit sine herede de corpore suo exeunte: Et q'd dictus Joh'es est etatis 30 annor' et amplius, dictusque Will'm's est etatis 40 annor' et amplius.

This William Belknap dyed without yssue 2do Rici 3ii and Henry his brother then 50 yeeres old was found next heire, whose younger brother was Phillip Belknap of the Moate aforesayd.

Henry Belknap was father of Sir Edward Belknap that dyed without issue, and his sisters were heires, whose marryages wee must not omytt because of ye great alyance it bringes to this family.

Anne eldest sister was marryed to Sir Robert Wotton from whome the Lord Wotton now living is descended.

Mary marryed to Gerrard Donnett of the county of Leicester.

Alice marryed to William Shelley of Sussex.

Elizabeth marryed to Phillip Cooke of Giddyhall in Essex.

Touching the family of the Butlers which is next to be handled, Mr Camden in the 544 folio of his Brittania sayth, that Wemme in Shropsheire sheweth yee ruynes of a castle which was the Barony of the Botelers: This was, sayth hee, the Barony (after the first entrance of the Normans) of Will'm Pantolphe, from whose posteritie, it came at length vnto the Botelers. So much for their seate. Now for proofe of theire honors, we finde William Boteler summoned to the Parliament in the 23 of Edward the first and first yeere of Edward the second, as Baron of Wemme. Againe in the 20th yeere of King Henry the 6, Sr Raph Boteler his successor was summoned to parliament as Baron of Sudeley.

The proofe of the descent of Wemme to Butler is proued before out of Mr Camdens Brittania: The next therefore is Sudeley, of whome in Mr Camdens description of Gloucestersheire folio 165 sayth thus.

In ould tyme at Sudeley Castle, certaine noblemen dwelt, and of it had their addition de Sudelye, descended of a right auntient Englishe race, to wit, from Goda, King Etheldreds daughter, whose sonne, Raph Medantinus, Earl of Hereford, begate Herald lord of Sudeley, whose progeny florished heere a long tyme, vntill by default of issue male, the daughter and heire matched in marryage with Sir William Boteler of the family of Wemme, and brought him a sonne named Thomas, and he begate Raphe Boteler, lord Treasurer of England created by King Henry the 6 Baron of Sudeley, with a fee of 200 marks yerely who repayred the Castle, and enlarged it with buildings. His sisters and heires were marryed into the houses of Northbury and Belknap, and by their posteritie, the possessions in short tyme were dispeirsed into seuerall familyes.

The whole descent of Sudeley is sett downe by Somersett Glouer in y^e^ catalogue of Hono^r^ to which I referre yo^u^ for farther illustracon of this Title and proceed to the next; w^ch^ is Monteford of whome also M^r^ Camden makes this mention in Warrwickshire:

The castell ioyning to Henley in the said Countie belongeth to the Montforts being Noblemen of greate name, w^ch^ place for the pleasant scituation among the woodes they called Beldesert; These were descended not from the Almorian familie of the Montforts of France, but from Turstan de Barstanberg a Norman whose inheritaunce passed away at length by y^e^ daughter vnto the Barons of Sudeley and the Freuilles, there whole descent you may reade here, Ex antiqua Pergamina fide digna.

Will of William Fanshawe, Esq.,* of Parsloes, a.d. 1634–50.

In the name of God Amen. The first day of March in the tenth yeare of the raigne of our Soveraigne Lord Charles. &c. * For particulars of William Fanshawe (the first of the Parsloes line) see his Funeral Certificate, Vol. I. p. 317. He was born in 1583 and died in 1634. The statement at page 118 that "all the existing families of Fanshawe descend from this William Fanshawe," must be understood to apply only to the existing branches of the family distinguished by high social position. A very large branch of the family at Dronfield, parts of Yorkshire, and even in Ireland and America, descends directly from Robert Fanshawe, of Fanshawe Gate, living temp. Queen Elizabeth. As stated in the notes to his Funeral Certificate, William Fanshawe purchased the manor and estate of Parsloes in 1619. He had acquired property in the neighbourhood some years before, and is mentioned as holding lands of the manor of Barking in the Survey made A.D. 1616. The deed of conveyance of Parsloes is dated February 16, 16th of King James I. It is made between Edward Osborne, Esq., of Keeton, co. York, and Margaret, his wife, of the one part, and William Fanshawe, Esq., of London, and Katherine, his wife, of the other part. The consideration-money is £1150: the lands, etc., conveyed are described as follows,—the manor and manor-house called Passelowes, and three acres of ground lying about the house; an arable field called Barn-field, containing 22 acres; Kitchen-field, containing 8 acres, arable; Stable-field, 5 acres, arable; Mawlands, 20 acres, arable; Shortcrofts, 8 acres, arable; Ivye lands, 6 acres; the brokes, 8 acres; one broke called Newlars broke, 1 acre; one grove adjoining, 2 acres: all lying in Dagenham and Barking. Also ground called Eylands, and Heathy-field, both in Barking; also ground parcel of Yvye lands (these are mentioned in another deed), and a cottage and 8 acres in Dagenham, in the occupation of Thomas Grigson. Edward Osborne covenants to deliver all deeds, etc. to William Fanshawe, at his dwelling-house in St. Sepulchre's, in London, and to give possession to Powl Waldegrave of Barking, gent., on behalf of William Fanshawe. Formal possession was accordingly given on the 22nd of February following, in the presence of Thomas Fanshawe of Jenkins, Thomas Fanshawe of Ware, Henry Throckmorton, Thomas Truelove and others, and is endorsed on the deed of conveyance. William Fanshawe subsequently became possessed, by purchase, of other landed property in this neighbourhood, and in particular of the site and remains of the great abbey of Barking.

† Parsloes Manor-house stands in a small park about midway between Dagenham and Barking, and is separated from the adjacent manor of Jenkins by a lane, anciently called Gale Street. The houses are but three-quarters of a mile apart.

In the latter part of the reign of Queen Elizabeth, Parsloes was the property and residence of Sir Hewit Osborne, son of the celebrated Sir Edward Osborne, Lord Mayor of London, and ancestor of the Dukes of Leeds. It was purchased, as previously stated, by William Fanshawe in 1619, and has been the residence of the family ever since.

During the two centuries and a half that it has been in the possession of the Fanshawes, it has, as might be supposed, undergone much alteration, and at three very distinctly marked periods; the latest and most extensive of these took place in the year 1814, when the mansion was somewhat ditaments, where with I trusted my wives brother S[r] John Wolstenholme the younger of London Knight,* and my nephew Thomas ffanshawe† to be disposed to the vse and for the benefitt of my Children, as by the said Declaration may appeare, (which I hereby ratifie and confirm.) And whereas S[r] John Wolstenholme the elder of London Knight,‡ by his Indenture of bargaine and sale beareing Date the twentith day of July 1622, in the twentithe yeare of the raigne of our enlarged, the walls were faced with new brick and finished throughout with battlements, and many windows of pointed form were inserted. Its plan now consists of a central hall and two transverse wings. It is approached on the west by an avenue, which formerly swept round the north end of the house, giving access also upon the east front, overlooking the gardens and park, though the principal entrance, as now, was upon the west.

Notwithstanding the successive changes which have either destroyed or concealed the more ancient architectural features and details, both externally and internally, it is still possible to define the original plan with considerable accuracy, and to trace the most important alterations and additions. It was one of the smaller class of manor-houses erected in the reign of Elizabeth, and then comprised a hall, with a single private apartment—perhaps that usually occupied by the family—at the north end, and kitchens at the south. A short passage from the north-west corner gave access to the great staircase, projected westward beyond the line of the hall, and also to the parlour on the right hand. Usually, especially in halls of earlier date, the doorway was towards the end, and visitors entered what was called "the screens," a passage at the lower end screened off by wainscot. No trace, however, exists of such an arrangement here, and, in all probability, the entrance was in the centre, as at present, and as we find in other examples of this date. The habits of society had changed before this time, and the upper classes had gradually abandoned the custom of eating with their retainers in the hall; and in some more ancient examples the space which would usually have been allotted for the dais and the high table is parted off from the rest of the hall by a solid screen. Here, although the hall is retained, a separate room was built at the upper end contemporaneously. The upper floor contained the sleeping-rooms of the family and domestics. The hall is lighted upon the west, and panelled throughout with small square panelling. The ceiling is modern. The stone fireplace is on the east side, near the lower end; but this, as well as those in the servants' hall. kitchen, and library, were brought from the more stately Elizabethan mansion of Eastbury House. All are enriched with carving. Between the years 1619 and 1634, William Fanshawe appears to have added a large apartment at the north end of the house (now the drawing-room), also panelled with oak, and the fine Jacobian carving over the mantelpiece is, doubtless, part of the original decoration of the room; it is entered from the passage at the foot of the great staircase, which, with its massive hand-rail and spiral balusters, must be ascribed to the same period, having probably replaced one of Elizabethan date. In further proof that the drawing-room was a later addition to the fabric, Mr. J. G. Fanshawe states that on removing a portion of the panelling some years ago, nails in the brickwork behind it clearly denoted that trees had been trained against the wall. Prior to this addition, the ground-plan of the house may be described as a parallelogram, with at least one slightly advanced gable on the west front, and perhaps a second corresponding. The floors of the hall, drawing-room, and library, are of oak, and the two first were, no doubt, laid when the respective rooms were built; but that in the the library came from Eastbury House. The library was erected by the Rev. John Fanshawe, about 1814, on the site of the south gable.

The accompanying lithograph, from an original drawing of the east elevation in the possession of Mr. Fanshawe, will, however, help us to understand somewhat better the external character of the edifice as it appeared in the latter part of the sixteenth century. It obviously represents an Elizabethan structure of brick, which had been greatly altered in the early part of the 1 st century, chiefly by the insertion of modern windows. The square turrets which flank the entrance were probably very late additions; for although an external stair-turret is not altogether an unusual feature in a house of this date, yet, considering all the structural arrangements, these can hardly have formed part of the original design: that to the right still exists and contains a modern stair. Sweep away these and other incongruous insertions of the eighteenth century and substitute square-headed mullioned windows, with diamond quarries, the original character of the east front will then, in some degree, be realized, and the archæologist, with a slight effort of imagination, will restore a picturesque old manor-house of the Elizabethan age. The gable to the extreme left is probably in advance; there are the apartments of the domestics. The hall extends to the tower upon the right; the gabled portion beyond contains, on the ground floor, the parlour at the north end of the hall; opposite, on the western side, is the staircase. The gable on the extreme right is the addition by William Fanshawe, in the reign of James I.; and, if we have not entirely failed in the description, the reader will easily comprehend the original plan of the structure. It may be added that the ancestral portraits remaining in the mansion are numerous.

(The description of Parsloes house is communicated by H. W. King, Esq., Hon. Secretary of the Essex Archæological Society.—E. J. S.)

ABSTRACT OF THE WILL OF MARY FANSHAWE, OF STRATFORD LE BOW, A.D. 1641.

In the name of God Amen: April 29 1641: I Mary ffanshawe of Stratford Bow Co. Middlesex. widow:† sick and weak in body, but of perfect mind and memory: my body to be buried in the Chapel of Stratford Bow: Debts to be paid. To my son Thomas Fanshawe £10 and two silver bowls. To my son John Fanshawe £10. To my son in law Thomas Hardwick‡ £20. To Thomas Hardwick the younger £50. To my daughter Mildred Andrews £20. All to be paid within 3 years after my death. To my grandchild Mary Hardwick £100 when 21. To the other six children of my daughter Mary Hardwick now born, and to the five children of my daughter Mildred Andrews now living, and also to my grandchildren John Kippax, Edward Kippax and Egbert Kippax§ £10 each, to be paid when they are 21. To my son George Fanshawe the furniture of my now dwelling house.‖ My said son George Fanshawe and my son in law Thomas Hardwick to be my executors. Residue to be divided between said George Fanshawe and said Mary Hardwick. And whereas the sum of £300, which was the portion of my son Raphe Fanshawe deceased, remains in my hands he being unfit to employ the same in respect of several infirmities, I will the same to my sons and daughters now alive, seven in number. Lastly I give to my son George Fanshawe and his heirs the messuage wherein I now live at Stratford Bow, and also the tenement in Stratford called the George, charged with the yearly payment of £8 for life to John Posthumous Fanshawe, and with the yearly payment of £6 for life to Richard Fanshawe.

Signed by Mary Fanshawe in presence of Chr Nailor Senr, Richard Baker, and James Whitehall.

Codicil dated April 30, 1641.

I give to John Fanshawe two guilt spoons. To Richard Fanshawe two silver spoons and Cloth to make him a mourning suit and Cloak. To Mildred Andrews

* There is nothing very singular in the circumstance that the will of William Fanshawe was not proved until sixteen years after his death. In cases of wills confined to the disposition of land, it frequently happened that the will was not proved at all, as it was only in respect of personal property that any probate was required; and often after the lapse of many years a will of real estate alone has been proved because a claim of representation was required to be made out. It might well happen in this case, although the testator was possessed of personal estate, that the probate of his will was postponed and forgotten, especially having regard to the troublous times. It is probable that the necessity of obtaining evidence of title to some property belonging to the family was the cause for producing and proving a will long laid by among family archives, but the necessity of proving which had only just become evident.

† Widow of John Fanshawe, of Rivenhall (see page 295), and daughter of Ralph Wiseman, of the same place. Their marriage-licence is dated February 20, 159¾; she was then aged about 19 (ex inf. Col. She was buried at Bow a few days after the date of her will: the interment is thus quaintly recorded in the parish register,—Mrs Marie ffancher, Gentilwoman, was buried in the Chancell, vnderneath the Commion table, fowre foote of Mrs Cottons pew, the 8 of Maie 1641.

‡ Of Stapleford Tawney, co. Essex. Will dated February 2, 1648; proved January 10, 1649–50, in P. C. C. It is clear that this statement is wrong, and that Mary Hardwick was daughter of John Fanshawe of Rivenhall. She survived her husband.

* Phineas Andrews, merchant of London, was a younger son of William Andrew, or Andrews, of Evesham, gent., by Mary, daughter of William Phinees, or Fyneux. He seems to have occupied Parsloes about 1646 (Royalist Comp. Papers, Sec. Ser., xvi. 342), and afterwards to have lived in Hertfordshire; but in 1658 he bought Denton Court, near Canterbury, and lived there. He was M.P. for Hythe. By Mildred Fanshawe he had John, of the Inner Temple, ob. 1667; Thomas, who sold Denton Court in 1679; Mary; and Elizabeth, who married Sir Thomas Wolstenholme, Bart. Phineas Andrews died in 1661, and was buried in Denton Church.

† Eldest son and heir of Sir Thomas Fanshawe of Jenkins, whom he succeeded in 1631. Born 1607: married February 16, 1626, Susan, younger daughter of Matthias Otten of Putney and Walthamstow, by whom he had Thomas, who succeeded him, and others. He held the office of Clerk of the Crown in the Court of King's Bench. See also notes to Funeral Certificates and Parish Registers. Lady Fanshawe describes him (Memoirs, MS., fo. 14) as "a worthy honest Gentleman and a great sufferer for y^e^ Crown, wholly ingaging his estate for y^e^ maintenance thereoff."

‖ A Mrs. Susannah Fanshaw was buried at Barking, from Jenkins, in July, 1668. It seems doubtful whether this was Susan, widow of Thomas Fanshawe, or their daughter of the same name

Herts, who died s. p., and was buried at Ware, June 13, 1660, (Lady Fanshawe says of her, "She was a very great fortune and a most excellent woman"): secondly, Sarah, daughter and coheir of Sir John Evelyn, of West Dean, co. Wilts, and widow of Sir John Wray, of Glentworth, co. Lincoln. By this lady he had Evelyn afterwards third Viscount, born 1669, died 1687; Sarah, buried January 3, 166$\frac{2}{3}$, at St. Giles in the Fields; Anna Maria, buried at Ware, September 10, 1668; and Katherine, buried September 15, 1684, at St. Giles in the Fields. He was buried at Ware, only ten days after the execution of his will, May 19, 1674. Lady Fanshawe says of him, "he was a handsom Gentleman, of an excellent understanding and great honour and honesty." His widow remarried George Saunderson, Viscount Castleton (at the Temple Church, February 17, 1675), and died in 1717.

Through the great losses of the family in the Civil War, Lord Fanshawe had been obliged to sell Ware Park and other patrimonial estates. In reference to this subject, Lady Fanshawe says in the Memoirs (speaking of the first Viscount), "he did ingage his person and estate for y^e^ Crown and fought in y^e^ battle of Edgehill, and y^e^ ruined his estate and was y^e^ cause of his sons selling Ware Park, afterwards he tryed by y^e^ Kings assistance to be reimburst but could not prevail. Thus in y^e^ fourth generation of y^e^ chief of our family since they came into the south, they for their sufferings for y^e^ Crown sold y^e^ flower of their estates and near 2000^ll^ a year more, there remains but y^e^ remembrancer place of y^e^ Exchequer office, & very patheticall is ye moto of our arms for vs

* Son of John Fanshawe and Elizabeth Bancks, and grandson of Lionel Fanshawe, Esq., of Dronfield: mentioned in his grandfathers will, 1656.

† Lionel, Thomas, Edward, and Coppin, or Copping, Fanshawe were sons of Thomas Fanshawe, gent., of Hartlip. John Fanshawe, dyer, was probably one of the Dronfield line, who had embarked in trade.

‡ The celebrated Lady Fanshawe, whose admirable Memoirs are widely known from the incorrect edition published about forty years ago. Lady Fanshawe was eldest daughter of Sir John Harrison, of Balls, co. Herts, by Margaret daughter of Robert Fanshawe of Fanshawe Gate, brother to Thomas Fanshawe, the second Remembrancer. She was thus near of kin to her illustrious husband. She was born in the parish of St. Olave, Hart Street, in London, March 25, 1625; married at Wolvercot, co. Oxon, May 18, 1644; and died in the month of January, 1680.

§ She was accordingly buried in the vault under St. Mary's Chapel (close to the old family vault of the Fanshawes), on the 20th of January following her death. No memorial marks the last earthly resting-place of this estimable woman.

|| For the few particulars known of Lady Fanshawe's surviving children, see the notes to Sir Richard Fanshawe's Funeral Certificate.

 The Editor of the Memoirs states that this was the warrant for Sir Richard's baronetcy. It is scarcely necessary to say that it was a warrant for a baronetcy, given by the King to Lady Fanshawe for the purpose of sale. Such gifts were not uncommon in those days.

* This picture is still in the possession of the family. There are several other portraits of Sir Richard in existence, two of which remain at the family seat of Parsloes. One is of remarkable merit, and has been attributed variously to Vandyke and to Velasquez. It is not likely to have been painted by Vandyke, who died when Sir Richard was only thirty-three years old; whereas the picture shows a man quite in middle age. If it is by Velasquez, it must have been painted in 1650, when Sir Richard was in Spain as Envoy Extraordinary.

† Sic in Register. Teniers the younger is probably meant. Lady Fanshawe was many times painted, and the family have several portraits of her. One, a very characteristic picture, was engraved for the Memoirs from the original, now at Parsloes. It had been etched before, for private circulation, by Miss Catherine Fanshawe.

Any future edition of the Memoirs should be published from this MS., as the published edition is thoroughly untrustworthy. It is incorrect in every page and almost in every line. Not only words, but entire passages are omitted; sentences are jumbled together; Lady Fanshawe's quaint diction is modernized and spoiled, and the book altogether is little better than a paraphrase of the original. It should however be stated in justice to the editor, Sir Harris Nicolas, that he used a copy only of Lady Fanshawe's MS. made in 1766, by Charlotte Colman. It is probable that he did not even know that the original MS. was in existence and accessible. Sir Richard Fanshawe, the "Most Dear and only son" to whom the Memoirs are addressed, died at Clerkenwell in July 1694, unmarried, having it is stated lost his speech and hearing from disease, some time before his death.

* The editor of the Memoirs changes this word to turning. It is trimming in the will, and means simply Sir Richard Fanshawe's razors, tweezers, scissors, brushes, and other necessary articles for keeping his hair and beard in order. Lady Fanshawe had doubtless carefully preserved everything, however trifling, that had belonged to Sir Richard, and would consider even his shaving-tackle as a gift to be specifically devised in her will.

† From the original MS. of the Memoirs.

‡ Sir Edmond Turnor of Stoke Rochford, the celebrated Royalist, brother-in-law to Lady Fanshawe, having married her sister, Margaret Harrison.

§ A younger son of Sir Henry Fanshawe of Ware Park; born in 1604; married Catherine, daughter and coheiress of Sir William Walter of Wimbledon, widow of Knighton Ferrers, and had a son Thomas, born in 1641, who died v. p.; knighted in 1640; was a Colonel of Horse and took an active part on the Kings side in the Civil War; died in March, 1680, buried at Ware. Sir Simon is mentioned in Lady Fanshawe's Memoirs as "a gallant gentleman, but more a libertin yn any one of his family: he married a very fine and good woman and of a great estate." The family pedigree states that Sir Simon Fanshawe's lady died in the year 1684, but this statement is evidently wrong, as she is called his late wife in the proceedings of the Committee for Sequestrations, February, 1647. As Sir Simon is described in those proceedings as of Bayford, co. Herts, recourse was had to the Registers of that parish for the date of his wife's burial. The Register was examined between the years 1630 and 1650 to no purpose; but as two or three pages are so defaced by damp as to be quite illegible, it is still possible she may be buried at Bayford. From the above entry in the Royalist Composition Papers, and from the fact that there is not the slightest allusion to her in her husband's will, it may be concluded that she died before Sir Simon, and that the statement in the family pedigree is incorrect. A fine portrait of Sir Simon Fanshawe, showing him to have been a strikingly handsome man, remains at Parsloes.

† In his petition to the Committee for Compositions, sitting at Goldsmiths Hall, in April, 1647, Sir Simon Fanshawe affirms that his estate is not worth, after payment of debts and charges, more than £200 yearly. The fine was only fixed at £60, but Sir Simon seems to have suffered in other ways; and in particular it is stated in the Composition Papers that personal estate to the amount of £2000, which had been devised by Mr. Ferrers (first husband of Sir Simon's wife) towards payment of his debts,—for which Sir Simon Fanshawe had become liable,—had been seized by the Committee for Hertfordshire, and it does not appear that any allowance was made to Sir Simon on this account. Will. Pouldon.
John ffanshawe Junio^r^.

* Younger son of Thomas Fanshawe of Jenkins, and Susan Otten; died early in 1683, and probably buried with his family at Barking. As before stated, the Burial Register of Barking is deficient from September 1682 until May 1683.

† Ob. 1705.

‡ Susan Fanshawe, mother of William, died it is supposed in 1668. Search for her will has been made to no purpose in the Registry of the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, the Commissary Court of London, and the Essex Registry. If the dispositions of the will were limited to real estate, it may not have been thought necessary to obtain probate.

§ Died in 1701.

‖ Born in 1638; married James Prowse, Esq., of Norton Fitzwarren, co. Somerset.

 Only surviving child and heiress of Sir Thomas Fanshawe of Jenkins.

†† Margaret Fanshawe died unmarried at Islington (where she had lived many years), in February, 1725, and was buried in the vault at Barking. "The family of the Fanshawes at Jenkins" was extinct when she died, the house pulled down, and the estate in the possession of strangers. She bequeathed the bulk of her property to the Fanshawe family of Parsloes.

Will of John Fanshawe, Esq., of Parsloes,* A.D. 1689.

I John Fanshaw of Parslowes in the County of Essex Esq., this Twenty Seaventh day of September, Anno Dni 1683, and in the 35th year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord Charles the Second by the grace of God King of England &c.; in good health of body, and of perfect memory and vnderstanding (God be praised), Doe make and ordain this my last Will and Testament as followth, (vizt) I desire to be decently buried at the discretion of my Executor hereinafter named: And my Will is that all such debts as I shall owe vnto any person or persons at my death be fully satisfyed. And whereas Henry Ayloff Esq.† by vertue of certain lres Pattents to him made by his said now Majesty at my nomination, is seized for his life of and in the office of Auditor of Accounts of all his Majesties Receivers, Sheriffs, and other Officers and Ministers of all his Honours, Castles, Lordships, Mannours, Lands, Tenements, Rents, Revenues, Possessions and hereditaments of his Duchy of Lancaster in the Counties Palatine of Lancaster and Chester, and in all Counties in the North parts beyond Trent, And of and in all fees, wages, profits and comodities to the said Office belonging, to take effect in revercon imediatly and soe soon as the said office, (granted to me for my life by the same letters Pattents), by my death or resignation or by forfeiture or otherwise, should become voyd, In trust for and to be disposed with the profits thereof to my Executors, administrators, or assigns, or to such others as I should direct or appoint, I doe hereby direct and appoint that the said Henry Ayloffe doe and shall permit and Suffer, my youngest sonn John ffanshaw, his Heirs and Assigns, to receive, take and enjoy all the benefitt and profitts of the said Office, for the better satisfying my debts untill they shall be all fully satisfyed and paid. And the said Henry Ayloffe doe and shall alsoe at the request of my said sonn John ffanshaw, his heirs and Assigns, Surrender the said Letters Pattents, and doe any other lawfull act or thing to enable my said sonn John ffanshaw his Heirs and Assigns to renew the said letters Pattents, or to take or procure a new grant of the said office to him my said sonn John ffanshaw, or as he shall desire. * Eldest son and heir of William Fanshawe, Esq., of Parsloes; born 1619; succeeded his father in 1634; matriculated at Trinity College, Oxford, February 9, 1638; Auditor of the Duchy of Lancaster; fought on the Kings side in the civil war; married first, Catherine daughter of Sir William Kingsmill of Sidmanton, co. Hants, by whom he had William, founder of the Dengey branch of the Fanshawe family,—married secondly in June 1659, his cousin Alice, eldest daughter of Thomas Fanshawe, Esq., of Jenkins, by whom (who died in child-bed, April 1662) he had John, his heir at Parsloes, and Susannah, born March and died December, 1661. Mr. Fanshawe died April 6, 1689, aged 69, and was buried at Barking. In speaking in the Memoirs of Thomas Fanshawe of Jenkins, as "a worthy honest Gentleman and a great sufferer for y^e Crown, wholly ingaging his estate for y^e maintenance thereoff," Lady Fanshawe goes on to say, "and so is my Cousin John Fanshaw of Parsles in Essex, who hath but 2 sons, one (unmarried) by his first wife, who was y^e daughter of S^r William Kinsmall, and y^e other is a child whom he had by his last wife, y^e daughter of my Cousin Thomas Fanshaw of Jenkins" (MS., fo. 14). It will be observed that the youngest son of John Fanshawe inherited Parsloes, and the place of Auditor, to the exclusion of William the eldest son. This was probably a matter of family arrangement, as William Fanshawe appears to have been amply provided for by settlement, with the valuable estate of Great Singleton in Lancashire.

† Of the ancient baronet family of Ayloffe, long seated at Brittons, and nearly connected by marriage with the Fanshawes of Jenkins and Parsloes.

NOTES TO THE PEDIGREE.

[1] The authorities for this pedigree are: Dr. Joseph Hunter's 'Deanery of Doncaster;' Manning and Bray's 'History of Surrey;' the 'Visitation of Devon,' 1620; the Calendars of the State Paper Office; Sir Bernard Burke; Shirley's 'Noble and Gentle Men of England;' Coll. Top. et Gen.; Wotton's Baronetcy; Dugdale's 'Visitation of Yorkshire;' Le Neve's Catalogue of Knights; Visitation of London; extracts from the Registers of Wollaston, Alvington, and Chepstow.

[2] The name of Woodroffe may be derived from Woodruff or Woodroof, (Anglo-Saxon) Wurderôfe, a plant of the genus Asperula; or more probably from woodreeve, meaning a steward or overseer of a wood, from Wood and Reeve, Anglo-Saxon Gerêfa, French Greffier.

[3] The arms of Woodroffe of Wolley were—Arg. a chevron between three crosses formé, fitché Gu.; those of Poyle—Gu. on a chevron Arg. three bucks' heads erased Sa., a chief per fesse nebulé Arg. and Sa.

[4] Richard Woderouffe appears as a witness to a deed dated 1378, relating to the estates of the Stainton family who were of Wolley, Yorks, in the reign of Edward I. (1272-1307).

[5] The Hamertons were one of the most ancient families in the North of England, descended from Richard de Hamerton, living 26 Hen. II. (1179).

[6] The Fitzwilliams were descended from Sir Wm. Fitzwilliam, natural son of Wm. Duke of Normandy, who came to England with the Conqueror, 1066, as Marshal of the Army. From Sir John Fitzwilliam (brother of Thomas, the first who acquired Mabblethorpe by marriage) descends the present Earl Fitzwilliam.

[7] Sir John Waterton, Knt., of Medley, was Master of the Horse to King Henry VI., and married Maud, da. of Sir Guy Fairfax, of Steeton. His son, Sir John, of Walton, married Eliz'th, da. of Sir John Saville, of Thornhill, Yorks, and had Robert, still living in the reign of Edward IV., father of Mrs. Woodroffe (?).

[8] Robert Clifton, who died 1518, married Agnes, da. of Lord Clifford, and sister of 1st Earl of Cumberland, and was descended from Lionel Plantagenet, Duke of Clarence, son of King Edward III. His son Sir Gervase (Mrs. Woodroffe's brother) was eminent in the reigns of Hen. VIII., Edw. VI., Mary, and Elizabeth, and from his affable disposition was usually called "Gentle Sir Gervase." Queen Elizabeth gave him this title, in a distich attributed to Her Majesty on four of her Nottinghamshire Knights—

> "Gervase the gentle, Stanhope the stout, > Markham the lion, and Sutton the lout."

Sir Gervase's grandson, Sir Gervase Clifton, was created a Baronet in 1611.

[8a] As Sheriff in 1554, David Woodroffe was present at the executions of Rogers and Bradford, the Protestant martyrs, at Smithfield; and Fox much abuses his cruel behaviour, contrasting it with the mildness of that of his colleague Sir William Chester. He adds, "Furthermore, here by the way to note the severe punishment of God's hand against the said Woderofe, as against all such cruel persecutors: so it happened that within half a year after the burning of this blessed Martyr [John Bradford], the said Sheriff was so stricken on the right side with such a palsy, or stroke of God's hand, whatsoever it was, that for the space of eight years after, till his dying day, he was not able to turn himself in his bed, but as two men with a sheet were fain to stir him; and withal such an insatiable devouring came upon him, that it was monstrous to see. And thus continued he the space of eight years together." ('Book of Martyrs,' ed. 1813, vol. ii. p. 321.)

In Machyn's Diary there is the following account of his funeral:—"March 1563. Master David Woodroffe, Altherman and Haberdasher of London bered .... whent a-for hym and after a xx clarkes [with their surplices] a-pon ther armes, & next iiij Althermen in [violet]; then cam a morner, beyryng hys pennon of ys [armes], a harold beyryng ys cotte armur, and next cam the corse covered with a pall of blake velvett and with the armes hangyng of ytt, and vj [morners] beyryng the corse, and next ij pennons borne on evere syd; [the chief] mornar Master Voderoff ys eldest [son] and next Master Stonehouse ys sune [in law, and a] nodur sune elaw and mony oder mornars, [to the] Chyrche, and then mony women mornars; the iiij Althermen [Sir William] Garrett, Ser Thomas Offeley, Ser Wylliam Chastur and Master Cristoffer D[raper]; and [the] Chyrche hangyd with blake, and armes rond a-bowtt. and in [front of] the Chyrche was raylles mad and hangyd with blake, [and] the strett hangyd with blake and armes, and the howse; and .... did pryche; and after the offered ys cotte and pennon of armes, and all the mornars and the craft offered, and after [to his place] to dener."

In Stowe's Survey of London, it is stated that David Woodroffe gave £20 towards the Conduit in Bishopsgate.

[9] Under date June 1581, there is a note in the State Paper Office of the covenous practice by which Robert Woodroffe would have been beguiled of his wools, by Jerome Benalio. There were proceedings at law in the following year, whereby it appears that the wool was bought from Richard Baynes (probably Robert W.'s brother-in-law), and that Woodroffe "with his poore wife and six little children" were in danger to be utterly undone. Richard Baynes or Barnes was a mercer, and among the Lansdowne MSS. is a bill of his for shop goods delivered to the Earl of Essex, given to Lord Burghley in 1577. On 7th April 1604, a letter was written to the then Lord Mayor of London, Sir Th. Low, to examine the petition of Robert Wooderove.

[10] There is no doubt that Sir Robert Woodroffe of Alvington died without issue. His brother's son appears by the Inquisition of Oct. 1639, taken after the latter's death, to have been his heir, and to have succeeded to his Manor of Ailburton, purchased from the Wintours. The inscription to Sir Robert W. (who must have been knighted between 18 April and 8 July 1603) in the Alvington Chapel, makes no mention (as was usual) of any children, and appears to have been inscribed to his memory by a grateful dependent:—

> "Here lies Sir Robert Woodrofe Knight, and Marye, his dear wife,
> Whose lives were virtuous, just, and upright; but Atropos' cruel knife
> Soon cut their thread; the Fate in this being kinde,
> Her hasting hence to Heaven's blisse left him not long behinde.
> Both sprang from offspringe generous and just, and lying here as one

[11] Sampson Sheffield was descended from Sir Wm. Sheffield, M.P. for Rutland 9 Hen. IV. (1407), whose wife, Isabella de St. Liz, descended from Simon de St. Liz, created Earl of Northampton and Huntingdon, and who died 1115, on his return from the Holy Land. His wife Maud, who afterwards married David, King of Scotland, was the daughter of Waltheof, Saxon Earl of Northumberland, beheaded at Winchester 1175, and grand-daughter of Syward, "The Great Earl of Northumberland," who died in the reign of Edward the Confessor.

[12] Mrs. Woodroffe is descended from the Prichards of Llanover, co. Monmouth. In Llanover Church is the following inscription:—"Here lyeth the bodyes of William Prichard of Lanover Esq. and Mathew Prichard of Lanover Esq. his sonne and heir, lineally descended from the body of Cradock Vraich Vras, Earle of Hereford, and Prince between Wye and Severn." (Cox's 'Tour in Monmouth,' ch. xxviii. p. 267.)
